

ITALY DECLARES WAR AGAINST TURKEY

ITALIAN DIPLOMAT HANDS NOTE TO PORTE; DEMANDS PASSPORTS

EVIDENCE SHOWS LINER ARABIC WAS NOT CONVOYED

London Speculates as to What Action United States Will Take—Cotton Is Declared Contraband—Turko-Bulgarian Relations Reach Breaking Point—Russians and Germans Lose Warships in Battle in Gulf of Riga.

LONDON, (Aug. 21)—Marquis Di Garroni, Italian ambassador to Turkey, today handed to the Porte a note declaring Italy considered herself in a state of war with Turkey and demanded his passports, according to an official telegram from Constantinople received at Amsterdam and transmitted to the Central News.

Although Italy declared war on Austria on May 24th and hostilities between the two powers began immediately, there has never been any declaration of war between Italy and Germany, the ally of Austria, and until now Italy and Turkey, the ally of the central powers, nominally have been at peace.

Friction between Turkey and Italy, however, has been in evidence since shortly after the latter's entry into the war. Early in June there were reports that Italian consuls were gradually leaving Turkey and that American officials were taking over the task of looking out for Italian interests. Later charges were made that the Ottoman government was preventing these consuls from leaving and that similar coercion was being exerted over Italian civilians who wished to quit Turkish soil.

On July 20th advice came from Rome that the Italian government had addressed a note to the United States asking it to use its influence to protect Italian subjects in Ottoman domains. The complaint that they were being prevented from leaving was reiterated.

Two days later the Italian cabinet met for the supposed purpose of discussing the situation as regarded Turkey and almost coincidentally the Italian government began to gather evidence intended to show that Turkey had violated the treaty of Lausanne, an undertaking according to the terms of which she pledged herself to withdraw all Turkish troops and officers from the Cyprean district in Tripoli and help bring about the submission of the Senussi tribesmen in this locality. Instead of doing this, it was alleged, Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, last March sent his brother, Nuri Bey, to Cyprean to foment rebellion.

On August 24 the Italian ambassador at Constantinople made another protest to Turkey relative to the attitude of those Ottoman authorities toward Italian subjects. It was stated that Italian consuls were still being detained in Turkey. At that time the tension between Italy and Turkey was becoming more acute daily.

It was announced on the fifth of August that Italy had asked for categorical explanations concerning Turkey's alleged refusal to withdraw her troops from the Cyprean district in Tripoli and it was charged that Turkey was pursuing what was described as her usual policy of procrastination. In official circles in Rome, the feeling was held that hostilities on the part of Italy might begin any moment, as her last note to Turkey was almost in the character of an ultimatum. Shortly after this it was reported that a declaration of war by Italy against Turkey would be simultaneous with the sending of about 150,000 men to the aid of the Franco-British force on the Gallipoli peninsula.

It was announced on August 19th that a strong squadron of fast Italian cruisers was being held in readiness to sail from Taranto, Italy, at a moment's notice. It was stated that it was expected the warships would be sent against Turkey if the latter country declined to satisfy Italy's demands for the release of Italian subjects held in the Ottoman empire.

A meeting of the Italian cabinet was held Friday and at that time Baron Sannino, Italian minister of foreign affairs, presented an exhaustive report on the Turkish situation. He asserted that the Turkish provocations had become intolerable. The cabinet's decision was kept secret. Dispatches today stated that the Italian ambassador at Constantinople had been instructed to hand to the Porte a note asking for a formal categorical statement as to departure of Italians from Turkish possessions. It was unofficially stated that the note was in the nature of an ultimatum and that a reply was expected Saturday.

International Questions Loom Large.
London, Aug. 12.—International questions, including those between the United States and Germany arising from the sinking of the steamer Arabic with the loss of two American lives and between the United States and allies as a result of the declaration of cotton as absolute contraband, loom large in the news of the day.

There continues to be much speculation as to what action, if any, the United States will take with regard to the Arabic, especially as the evidence of officers and passengers goes to show that the Arabic was not convoyed and received no warning of an impending attack. It is asserted that "inasmuch as no one aboard the steamer saw the submarine there could have been no intention on the part of Captain Finch to ram the underwater craft."

Expect Less Serious Objection.
In respect to the declaration of cotton as contraband, it is expected here that America will offer less serious objection to this step than to the order in council under which cargoes from America now are dealt with.

Alongside these questions in which America is interested, is the indignation aroused in Denmark and the whole of Scandinavia as the result of the attack by German destroyers on the British submarine E-13 after she stranded on a Danish island. According to the British official account and reports from Copenhagen the E-13 went aground Thursday morning. The officers and crew were busy trying to refloat her under orders from the Danish naval authorities, who had given them 24 hours to accomplish the task, when German destroyers appeared on the scene. One of them, after firing a torpedo which missed its mark, is reported to have opened fire with her guns even after the crew had abandoned the submarine which was afloat.

Danish Government Protests.
The British official account says the German destroyers fired at the men in the water with machine guns and shrapnel. Not until after Danish destroyers got between the Germans and their prey did they cease firing, the report says. Half the thirty members of the crew of the E-13 were killed and their bodies will be sent home in a Danish warship. Those who escaped will be interned in Denmark. The Danish government has protested to Germany while the press of all the Scandinavian countries expresses its concern at the violation of neutral territory.

The activity of German submarine also has brought a protest from the Spanish government which has lodged a claim for the sinking of the steamer Isidoro. The German ambassador expressed his regret at the "accident." Since then another Spanish steamer, the Perla Castillo, has been sunk by a German submarine and it is expected another claim will be filed.

Relations Reach Breaking Point.
Telegrams from the Balkan capitals state that Turco-Bulgarian relations have reached the breaking point and that Turkey is strengthening her fortifications in Thrace because of the fear of a Bulgarian invasion. No open breach between the Bulgars and Turks is likely, however, until Bulgaria learns whether the Serbian parliament which has been in secret session for three days, is willing to cede Macedonia to her. Venizelos is back in power in Greece but it is questionable whether he will be so ready to join the allies as he was before the political crisis and dispute with King Constantine which caused his downfall early in the year.

Foreshadows Big Offensive.
Beyond reports of a naval engagement in the Gulf of Riga in which, according to German reports, the Russians lost one destroyer and two gunboats and the German one destroyer while each had other vessels damaged, there has been little news from the fighting areas. This naval activity in the Gulf of Riga where the Russians apparently have only small craft, foreshadows another big German offensive against Riga and throughout the Baltic provinces. With the fall of the Polish fortresses Field Marshal von Hindenburg can command large reinforcements for this venture. With Riga, assailed from sea and land, in German hands, there may even be an attempt to advance toward Petrograd.

Meantime, however, the Germans and Austrians, following up their advantage, are endeavoring to make the Brest-Litovsk line untenable for the Russians. One of their armies already is across the railway from Brest-Litovsk to Bialystok, threatening to divide the Russian forces at Brest-Litovsk from those holding the line to the northwest as far as Ostrowetz. The Russians still are making an orderly retreat doing all the damage they can and except for the guns and men taken in fortresses the Austro-Germans do not claim any large captures. On the other battle fronts there have been no events of importance.

TO CONSIDER PLAN FOR CUTTING DOWN LOSS FROM HOG CHOLERA

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, announced today that he will call for the first week in September a conference in Chicago of county agricultural experts, representatives of live stock publications, the stock yards, the commission houses and others to consider a plan which he has formulated for cutting down the state's annual loss through hog cholera. He proposes to stamp out hog cholera through the methods and tactics which were used in the fight against the foot and mouth disease.

Dr. Dyson said that during the first year his plan is in operation the loss from cholera can be cut from $4,000,000 to $2,000,000.

ORDER BATTALION OF MARINES TO BE READY TO EMBARK FOR HAITI

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—One battalion of marines, 350 men at Annapolis have been ordered to be prepared to embark for Haiti if Rear Admiral Caperton calls for more forces. They probably would go on the cruiser Tennessee now on her way north from Port Au Prince. Further trouble with unruly natives inland from Cape Haitien indicated as a possibility some time ago, is believed to have prompted Admiral Caperton's request that an additional marine battalion be in readiness to join his force. Officials made it plain that he had not definitely asked for reinforcements and the Tennessee will not go to Annapolis unless further requests come from the admiral.

APPEALS TO PREVENT PARTITION OF ALBANIA

Boston, Aug. 21.—In the name of the Albanians of America, F. S. Noli, president Pan-American Federation of American "vatra" today appealed to the entente powers to prevent partition of Albania by the Balkan states, appealed to Pope Benedict XV to the same end and sent to President Wilson a protest against violation of the treaty of London which Mr. Noli said guaranteed the independence and integrity of Albania.

FORM BOXING ASSOCIATION

Cleveland, Aug. 21.—Fourteen boxing clubs were united in an organization to be known as the American Boxing association at a meeting here tonight. Matt J. Hinkle, Cleveland, was named president; Gene Melady, Omaha, secretary-treasurer and Harry Edwards, Philadelphia, vice president. Other officers, boards and committees will be named tomorrow.

WILL ESTABLISH HEADQUARTERS IN CHICAGO

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 21.—Headquarters of a Norwegian chamber of commerce will be established in Chicago and the organization, the purpose of which is to promote commercial relations between Norway and the United States, will be incorporated under the laws of Illinois. This was decided at a meeting here today of business men from all parts of the country.

JUDGE DENIES MOTION

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—Judge Maurice T. Doelling, in the United States district court today denied a motion to quash the indictments found by a federal grand jury last month against Ralph K. Blair and others charging violation of neutrality in the recruiting of men here for British military service. Judge Doelling also overruled all demurrers interposed by the defendants and set the trial of the cases for October 18.

War News Summarized

Italy's long expected declaration of war against Turkey has been made. For weeks the tension existing between the two governments had been so acute that the breaking point was looked for at any moment. Turkish support of the revolt in Libya and the prevention of the departure of Italian residents from Asia Minor are the reasons for Italy's hostile move given in a note which was handed to the Porte on Saturday by Marquis Di Garroni, Italian ambassador to Turkey, when he demanded his passports.

The day brought forth no important developments at Washington regarding the sinking of the steamer Arabic by a German submarine. President Wilson was reported to be preserving an open mind on the subject until all the facts are available for calm scrutiny.

Activities of the belligerents on the seas continue. The latest important announcement is that a British submarine has torpedoed a German cruiser in the Baltic sea. This report, which was made officially in Petrograd, did not give the name or the type of warship which met disaster.

The Russian armies are continuing their retreat under the persistent pressure of the Austro-Germans, Saturday official accounts of the fighting indicated.

The report from German army headquarters recorded the capture of Bielek, on the Brest-Litovsk-Bialystok line, by General von Gallwitz' troops and the driving of the Russians south of Bielek over the Biala river.

The Russians made a stand before the advance of the army of Prince Leopold, of Bavaria, but broke under the German attack and continued their retreat. Berlin announces, while Field Marshal Mackensen's troops have made further progress in closing in on the Brest-Litovsk stronghold.

Near Kovno the Russian forces have evacuated their position to the south on the Jesia river and retreated toward the east.

The German fleet that yesterday was reported as having entered the Gulf of Riga, has had what Berlin alludes to as "outpost engagements" with the Russian naval forces in the gulf, in which small war craft on both sides were sunk. The Russians, according to the German official account, lost two gunboats and a torpedo boat, while of three German torpedo boats damaged, one was sunk, one was run aground and one was escorted to port. Several Russian craft, one a large vessel, were severely damaged while retreating. Berlin declares, "The German loss of life was small."

Two steamers from American ports were sunk yesterday by German submarines. Paris reports the British steamer Carterwell, from Galveston for Havre and the Belgian oil steamer Daghestan from Philadelphia for Rouen.

Spain has protested to Germany against the sinking of two Spanish steamers, recently torpedoed by submarines.

Great Britain issued a statement announcing that cotton had been declared absolute contraband of war. The French government, it was stated, will issue a similar announcement this Sunday.

ANNOUNCEMENT CAUSES NO SURPRISE

Washington, Aug. 21.—Announcement that cotton had been declared absolute contraband of war by Great Britain came as no surprise to officials here. Secretary Lansing was informally advised by the British embassy some time ago that this action had been decided upon and that formal announcement was delayed only pending the arrangement of details. These included, it was understood, preparations to protect the market from the effect of the announcement and also a understanding between Great Britain and her allies.

TAKE INJURED SOLDIERS TO SAN ANTONIO HOSPITAL

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 21.—Sixteen soldiers injured in the storm at Texas City Monday night were brought to San Antonio today and placed in the post hospital. They came in a private car in charge of Lieutenant W. P. Davenport of the army medical corps. They are members of the 27th infantry who sought refuge in the Thompson building which collapsed. It is believed all will recover.

CLUBWOMEN MAKE FRIENDS WITH CHINESE

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—To strengthen the friendly relations between the Chinese residents and the rest of San Francisco's inhabitants, a group of clubwomen are cooperating in a big open air carnival, which opens here today, to extend until Aug. 29. Prominent Chinese are cooperating in the movement. A carnival queen is to be chosen from among the Chinese girls, and there will be a Chinese baby contest, teas, luncheons and a ball.

THIRTY-NINE LOSE LIVES IN SINKING OF ARABIC

EIGHTEEN PASSENGERS AND TWENTY ONE OF CREW PUT DOWN AS LOST

Coroner Decides No Inquest is Necessary—Washington Government Proceeds With Deliberation in Purpose to Fix Responsibility.

Queenstown, Aug. 22.—Thirty-nine persons lost their lives in the sinking of the steamer Arabic, the White Star line announced last night after completing an investigation regarding the total number of persons aboard. It is stated that twelve cabin passengers, six steerage passengers and twenty-one members of the crew cannot be accounted for and must be put down as lost.

The coroner has decided that no inquest will be necessary over the bodies recovered and consequently Capt. Finch, who was waiting to give evidence, left for Liverpool.

The woman whose body was found in the bottom of a drifting life boat was identified last night by one of the Arabic's passengers as Mrs. Eaton of Bolton, Lancashire, who was on her way to New York to meet her husband. Her daughter, who was with her was saved and has returned to Bolton.

Proceed With Deliberation.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Reasonable doubt as to conditions surrounding the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic has determined the Washington government to proceed with deliberation in its purpose to fix responsibility of the loss of at least two American lives and the jeopardizing of a score of others. Therefore, Germany will be given an opportunity to explain this last sea tragedy and if possible to show whether the conditions justified the German submarine commander in sinking the liner in apparent disregard of the solemn protest of the United States government against the destruction of merchant vessels bearing American passengers without proper warning and opportunity for succor.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing conferred today on the Arabic situation with the text of the two messages from Ambassador Page at London, before them giving details of the destruction of the ship as far as they have been gathered from American survivors. The ambassador and consular officials in England have been instructed to supplement their reports with all available information regarding the physical results of the tragedy. The reports will be studied carefully but in the meantime the German statement will be sought.

Ambassador Gerard at Berlin will be instructed to look to the German government for an explanation of the sinking of the Arabic or at least for a statement of the facts so far as they have been reported to the admiralty by the submarine commander.

KNOW IDENTITY OF MEMBER OF MOB

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 21.—It was intimated in official circles here tonight that the identity of a member of the so-called "vigilance committee" that lynched Leo M. Frank was known to some officials and that the information probably would be placed before Governor Harris next week.

Nothing that seemed likely to lead to identification of any of the men had come to the governor today, he announced.

RECEIVES ROMOTION.

Macy W. Brents, who has and charge of the printing plant of the State School for the Deaf has been transferred to St. Charles and H. W. Doenges of St. Charles will take Mr. Brent's place here. The transfer came through the state board of administration, and was a great surprise to Mr. Brents.

TAKE NEW POSITIONS.

Hal Hoover and Edwin Phillips left Saturday for Clifton, Ia., to take machinists' positions. Mr. Hoover has until recently been employed at his trade in Des Moines, Ia.

SNODGRASS TO JOIN BRAVES.

Boston, Aug. 21.—Fred Snodgrass, released by the New York Giants a few days ago, has accepted terms to play with the Boston Braves. President Gaffney announced tonight. Snodgrass will report Monday.

PROMISED RELIEF HAS NOT MATERIALIZED

NO FOOD HAS BEEN DISTRIBUTED TO POOR IN MEXICO CITY

Corn, Sugar and Coffee Are Being Sold at Alleged Exorbitant Prices By Officers of Gonzales' Forces—Obregon to Stand by Carranza.

Mexico City, Aug. 16, by courier to Vera Cruz to New Orleans, Aug. 21.—Promised relief to the poor has not yet materialized. When General Gonzales, Carranza commander entered the capital he declared he would begin immediately the distribution of 100 carloads of corn, 7,500 sacks of flour and large quantities of sugar, lard, coffee and other staples. None of these has been distributed nor has a diligent search located the supplies. Instead three carloads of corn, sugar and coffee are being sold at alleged exorbitant prices by officers of the forces of General Gonzales in the railway yards in Buena Vista.

Purpose Is Further Indicated.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Gen. Carranza's purpose to ask for recognition of his government by the United States and Latin-American republics was further indicated today by replies received from Gen. Obregon and other Carranza chiefs to the Pan-American appeal for a peace conference in Mexico.

General Obregon emphatically declared he would stand by Carranza, asserting that the United States and the Latin-American republics had been misinformed regarding the strength of the Carranza movement.

Maytorena Transmits Reply.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 21.—Jose Maria Maytorena, Villa governor of Sonora state, today transmitted to the state department his reply to the Pan-American conference appeal for peace in Mexico. In part he said: "I see no objection to accepting the invitation you have been pleased to extend to be represented by a delegate at a meeting called to discuss the establishment of a constitutional government and to adopt measures for the constitutional reconstruction of the country."

John Monroe, convicted at the November term of the Cook county criminal court of murder and sentenced to fourteen years in the penitentiary to expire September 23.

Arthur Beck, convicted of murder at the November term, 1907, of the Cook county criminal court and sentenced to fourteen years, to expire September 14.

Edward Desnitz, convicted at the August term, 1902, of the Cook county criminal court of murder and sentenced to twenty-five years, to expire September 3.

BICYCLE MEET FOR THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 21.—The bicycle world's championship will be staged at the Newark velodrome, beginning tomorrow. Three dates are set for the events: Aug. 22, 25 and 29. Many of the best cyclists now in America have entered. Although the championship meet is to be run off without the official sanction of the International Cyclists' union, which has heretofore controlled the championship contests, it is expected the event will be approved later, when the international organization is revived after the war.

The meet will conform in every way with the rules governing world's championships. Four events are on the card: Professional and amateur spring championships at one mile; motor-paced championship at 100 kilometers, 62½ miles, and the tandem championship at one mile.

IMMIGRATION DECREASES

Washington, Aug. 21.—Preliminary figures issued today by the immigration bureau show a 65 per cent decrease in immigration during the first week of August compared with the same period a year ago while every month this year has shown a decline of from 65 to 79 per cent.

RECOVER BODIES OF 11 FLOOD VICTIMS

Des Peres River in St. Louis Falls Rapidly—Car Service Restored

256 DEAD IN TEXAS

Sixty-Five Still Missing—Damage from Gulf Hurricane May Total $50,000,000

GALVESTON'S LOSS $6,000,000

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—Eleven bodies of victims of the flood which swept the St. Louis suburban district Friday were recovered today and the death toll was increased by one. Reports today told of the death of another man at East St. Louis.

Of the eleven dead in St. Louis and suburbs, ten were negroes and one was a white woman.

The Des Peres river, the rise of which was responsible for most of the destruction of the property and all the loss of life on the Missouri side of the Mississippi, fell rapidly today and street car and train service to suburban towns was restored. Several large factories, along the Des Peres river were badly damaged by the flood and most of the establishments will be closed for a week or ten days.

Total Known Dead Is 256.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 21.—A total of 256 known dead, residents of southeast Texas coast points and crews of wrecked craft of all kinds, sixty five persons missing, many of whom are believed to have perished and damage to crops, buildings, railroads, shipping, livestock and other property aggregating close to fifty million dollars was the toll taken by the hurricane which swept this section last Monday and Tuesday. These figures were reached from a careful compilation made tonight of what are considered the most authentic reports of loss of life and property received since the cessation of the storm.

Of the known dead, 94 were residents of the gulf coast section and 62 were drowned when the vessels they were aboard sank. Forty three of the missing were members of boat crews. Those who perished on Galveston island, including eight in the city proper, numbered 53 and ten were still reported missing from the island. Galveston's share of the property loss was placed at approximately $6,000,000.

Reports received from all over the effected section were that the cities and towns gradually are recovering from the disastrous storm and that conditions again are approaching normal throughout the gulf coast.

Issue Flood Warnings.

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—Flood warnings were issued by the weather bureau tonight to all Mississippi river towns between Crafton, Ill., and Chester, Ill.

The Mississippi at St. Louis rose 4.42 feet in twelve hours and at 8 o'clock tonight the gauge registered 28.02 feet. The river is expected to pass the thirty foot, or flood stage, Sunday.

Black River Raging Torrent.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Aug. 21.—The Black river, which flows through this part of the southeastern Missouri, now is a raging torrent, which has flooded the east side of Poplar Bluff and driven a hundred families from their homes.

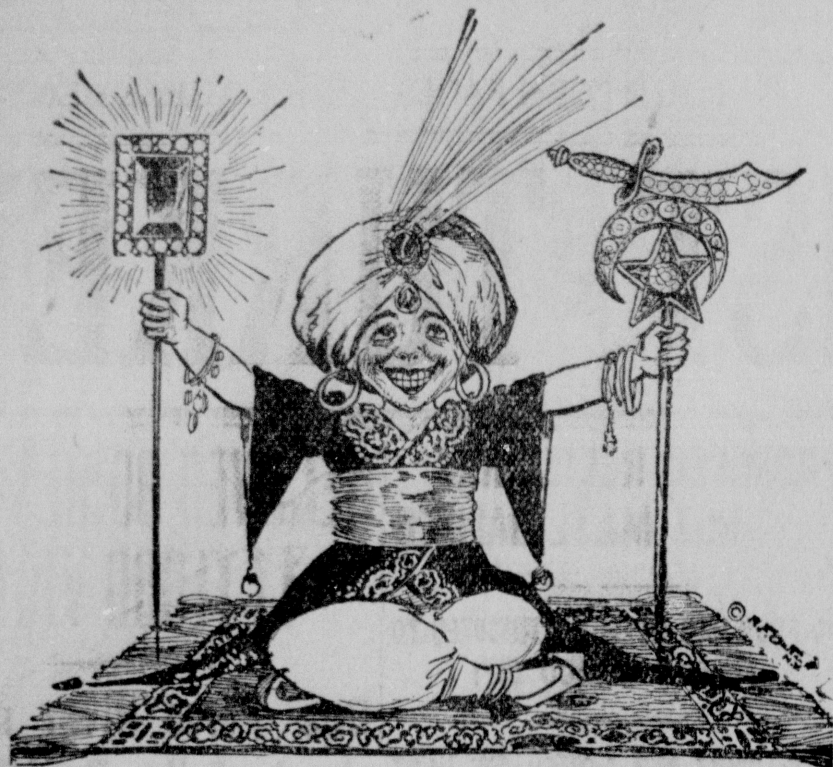

These refugees have taken boats to the high ground on the west side of town. No loss of life has occurred.

Many Narrow Escapes.

Zinc, Ark., Aug. 21.—One of the most serious floods in the history of the White river valley has resulted from a continuous sixty-hour rain. Great damage to crops is reported. Many had narrow escapes. The zinc mines along the Buffalo river have been seriously damaged, in some instances the workings have been flooded.

Flood Situation Serious.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 21.—Reports received tonight from towns in upper reaches of the White river in northern Arkansas indicate that the flood situation there has become serious. A steamboat was sent out late this afternoon from Batesville to the Oil Trough bottoms where it is reported that many people are marooned in their homes by the rapidly rising flood waters. The drowning of C. S. Jordan, an aged ferryman, is reported from Heber Springs. A large portion of the lower section of Batesville is under water. Railroad traffic is hampered.

Women Will Assert Rights.
A report which has been in circulation that women of the state may be denied the privilege of voting for delegates to the presidential national convention next year has recently been brought to the attention of the state woman's suffrage association. Officers of the association admit that they have had an inkling that legal steps might be taken to prevent the balloting of women in the primary next April. However, they are not worried by this story as they have assurance from eminent legal authority that women electors under the Illinois law have the right to vote for convention delegates. Judging by their past alertness, the officers of the association will see to it that the women are accorded all the rights intended by the suffrage law which was placed upon the statute books.

Some Mexican Truths.
Correspondence received in Washington from Mexico sheds additional light on conditions across the border.
"One says, in part: 'It is all bunk about these (the insurgent) armies being composed of poor people fighting for their liberty. They, one and all, are composed of the same type of cutthroats that manned the pirate ships. They are simply big, disorganized mobs ravaging the country and fighting other mobs for the plunder. Former roustabouts here are now generals and colonels in these 'armies', living on the best in the land free of charge and re-splendent with diamonds and big hats.' The other says of the Mexicans: 'Their religion is gone. They have lost all respect for their government and the representatives of our government. But, it seems to me, they are deserving of some sympathy, for it was our interference in their affairs, refusing recognition of the central authority which held them in control, which brought them to their present low state, morally and physically.'"

Bryan's Theories Create Discussion.
One can hear lots of discussion of the theories advanced by the Hon. William J. Bryan in his lecture, "The Causeless War". Owing to the fact that Mr. Bryan delivered his lecture here Friday, traveling men about the hotels made his subject the basis of many discussions furnished talk almost exclusively of everything else.

Traveling men as a rule do a great deal of reading and keep in close touch with current events. At the Dunlap hotel Saturday a group of traveling men were talking of Bryan's speech and of his theories. From the trend of the conversation all the participants agree with Mr. Bryan. The argument advanced was that there was no excuse for the slaughter of men in the manner in which it is being done in the present conflict.

There is no doubt but that the claim is right. There is little ground on which to base an argument for war. Inventive genius has developed the making of death dealing war engines to such a high plane of efficiency—if such it can be termed—that an armed conflict ceases to be war and becomes murder pure and simple.

Sometimes it would seem that if all the modern engines of war were destroyed and people went back to the primitive method of killing there would not be so much war. At least it seems, there would not be so much horror attached to the procedure. It is possible that if men were put back to the stage where they met at close quarters with stung shots for throwing stones and the old broad sword the generation of the present day would not be so anxious for war. It is a great deal easier to kill men several miles away that you can't see than it would be to meet them hand to hand. Let us hope that Mr. Bryan's dream of world wide peace ultimately comes true.

Discussing War Cause.
David Star Jordan, chancellor of Leland Stanford Jr. university in a recent address before the National Education association advanced a theory as to a cause of the great war which is out of the usual line of argument. The eminent educator lays a portion of the burden upon the shoulders of historians who have dwelt upon the war periods in past years and said little about the advances and developments, neglecting as he termed it "the real substance of history." There is much truth in the statement too but it does not seem surprising that nations like men are sometimes judged by the evils which represent mere periods in their lives, while those events characterizing the long years are forgotten.

Dr. Jordan said: "It is said that in the schools of today the history of the future is written. It is our function as teachers to provide over these writing lessons. Too much of this history has been written in blood. Such history is barbarism. It shows that we teachers have neglected our work, or else that we have perverted it."

"It is easy to see that the present war is a war of rival militarisms. It is a soldier's war—too many men trained to fight—too few men trained in respect of law."

"It is said that next to the militarists the historians are at fault. A trail of blood is over human history and the historians have been fascinated by it—obsessed by it, and they have neglected the real substance of history, the growth of man."

"The really great deeds of humanity in Greece as well as elsewhere were not performed on the battlefield. They have been possible only in security, in patience in those places and times which have stood as oases in the desert of war and waste."

"It has been taught that war is a positive thing; peace, the interval between wars, a 'pale negation,' the 'period of fattening' for the great struggles which decide the fate of nations. It has been taught, and by great teachers, that war is the nation's salutary exercise, the growing pains of a nation's discipline."

"It is our duty as teachers to question this claim. If we find it unfounded, it is our business to help our children to see its fallacy."

"Above all nations is humanity, and true patriotism is humanity's service. This is planetary patriotism, the wholesome result of the widening of our intellectual boundaries, the enlargement of our souls."

"Our country has been called the one great international country. Let us do our part to keep it so—not in blood but in spirit."

Present Not Time to Change Government Plan.

When the city council meets tomorrow it will doubtless pass the ordinance providing for an election to be held Tuesday, Sept. 21, upon the question of Jacksonville returning to the aldermanic form of government. The petition which was filed asking for the submission of this question had more than the number of signatures required by the provisions of the law, and the city council as quickly as possible took the necessary action. There has been no disposition on their part to question the sufficiency of the petition. The list of more than 1700 names includes many who have long been residents of Jacksonville, some of whom have all along held unfavorable views of the commission form of government. The petition also presents the names of men and women who are willing that any question shall be submitted to the voters, and there are also the names of citizens, doubtless, who signed the petition without any special thought as to the importance of the question to be considered. But no matter who signed the petition or the motive which prompted such signature, the election will be held and the people will be given a chance to voice their sentiments.

The commission form of government has much to recommend it. The intent of the law is to provide that sufficient salaries may be paid to the officers chosen to justify them in giving their best efforts to the interest of the city. The initiative and referendum features have been considered as securing rights for the people and the petition in the present instance indicates the ease with which the people may gain a hearing. The law is based somewhat upon the theory that there is advantage in the centralization of authority in a small number of officers; that by the election of a smaller number of officers chosen at large from the citizenship, without reference to ward lines, that ward politics may be put into the background and that efficiency and service may become watchwords for the elected officers.

Jacksonville has been under the commission form of government four years, and while not all was accomplished during those years which some friends of the commission form thought could and should be accomplished, there has been nothing in the record thus far to justify a return to the old form, which presented some objectionable features.

The commission form of government has not been given a sufficient trial in Jacksonville to justify a declaration on the part of the people that it is a failure. In the last election the people selected the five men they believed to be the most competent to handle the city's affairs. These five men are citizens whose records in private life and in business have justified the prediction that the city's affairs would be well managed during the coming four years. Certainly in the few months of service which these officials have rendered they have not given evidence of inefficiency, of incompetence, of dishonesty, or an unwillingness to work for the betterment of the city as a whole. Not unless they had done some radical wrong would there be justification for the movement to return to the old form of government at this time.

The success of the movement for the old form at the coming election will mean a series of other elections, primary and regular, before the city again adjusts itself to the regular election of officials for two-year periods. These elections will of themselves cause an expenditure of large sums of money, and the disturbed conditions of all city affairs which would prevail at least until a year from next May, when the regular two-year election would be held, would certainly make impossible not only any advances, but even the straightening out of present conditions.

Jacksonville has a floating debt of more than $40,000 and in addition, seventy-five per cent of next year's taxes have been anticipated and spent. There is great need for expenditure for the development and betterment of several city departments, and a change of government at this time will not only put a stop to any betterment of these departments, but will also plunge the city deeper into debt. The present city officials have been busy with an effort to outline a general financial policy to be maintained during the four years of their term, with the well grounded expectation that when their term was ended they could point not only to improvements made but to a city without a floating debt, and far better prepared to go ahead in a business way, no matter to whom the reins of government should be given over when the four years' time had expired. The caliber of the men now serving has given reason to believe that their expectations as stated before, were not of a visionary type but founded upon their knowledge of city affairs.

A return to the old form of government at the present time will be a decided step backward, and will certainly make it impossible for this city to show any advance or improvement for an extended period, if the people want to change to the aldermanic system, that change should be made only after a longer test of the commission form has been given; only after the men who are now holding office have given unmistakable evidence of their unwillingness or inability to manage the affairs of Jacksonville in a business-like, economical and efficient way.

BRYAN REFUSES AMOUNT DUE HIM ON CHAUTAUQUA CONTRACT

Hon. W. J. Bryan, sprung a surprise on the managers of the Jacksonville chautauqua Friday afternoon when he declined to accept the $250 which was due him according to his contract. He did this, he said, because of the unusual weather conditions which prevailed and because of the high regard he held for the people of the city, where he had lived for a number of years. He informed the management that if they care to do it might be payed over to M. F. Dunlap, the gate receipts of that day which were exceedingly small. The management afterwards conferred with Mr. Dunlap and it was decided to leave the matter until after the chautauqua closed.

For years an exceptionally clever thief victimized the guests of the country's largest hotels. His scheme consisted of stealing the precious gems from valuable scarf pins and replacing the genuine stones with imitations.
But this thief met his Waterloo when he tried to work his game at the Auditorium hotel, Chicago. A. S. Katz, the official who nabbed him in the act, revealed to us the crook's method of procedure. The story was so remarkable, so unique, that we made it the basis for the series of 12 complete stories.

SUNNY SKIES RENEW CHAUTAUQUA SPIRIT

TWO THOUSAND VISIT GROUNDS FOR SATURDAY PROGRAMS

John H. Walker, Illinois Federation President, Defines Trend of Labor Movement and Dr. Perrine Takes Hearers to Far East—Mud is Drying and Tent City Filling.

More than two thousand persons visited the chautauqua grounds Saturday and enjoyed the attractions provided for the second day, according to official estimate of the Jacksonville street railway. Unbroken sunshine renewed the spirit of chautauqua goers as it dried up the traces of Friday's deluge, and at the close of the evening session, indications boded nothing but good for a surprisingly successful chautauqua week.

Walter Eccles and the College Girls scored an undisputed hit and their high grade music and variety lending novelties made Saturday's program move with ease and swiftness. John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, discussed the needs and hopes of organized labor and the laboring man. Arrived in Eastern costume, Dr. Samuel Alden Perrine told of the wonders of the orient and gave forth facts garnered in ten years of travel through China, Persia, India and Japan.

Today's Performers Here.
The Rev. William Spurgeon of London, who is to give the address this afternoon, arrived last evening and attended the lecture by Dr. Perrine. The Albers Octette are in the city and will be in good voice for the sacred concert this afternoon and the presentation of "The Crisis" tonight. The program follows as announced in detail by the management:

10:45—Sacred song service.
11:15—Sermon, "The Old Gospel for a New Age"—The Rev. Myron L. Pontius.
2:00—Sacred Concert—The Albers Octette.
2:30—Lecture—Dr. William S. Spurgeon.
6:30—Vesper service.
8:00—Apostrophe to the Flag—J. I. Graham.
8:15—Presentation of "The Crisis" by the Albers Octette.

All is ready for the entire day programs next week and with Monday forenoon health and gymnastic work will begin. Misses Grace and Maude Walden Mount have arrived from Lincoln, where they have been filling an engagement, and tomorrow morning begin their three-fold program of kindergarten, young peoples' and womens' activity. For Tuesday an extensive Old Settlers' program is prepared. Wednesday the special farmers' lectures begin and on until the last day of the chautauqua there will be "something doing all the time".

None worked harder for the public comfort yesterday than A. C. Rice, the secretary, and all the directors were on the grounds a portion of the time lending their aid to the day's success.

A Message From the Orient.
The Holy Ganges, Agra and its treasures of architecture, tangled interior jungle and rocky cliff—were all set forth by Dr. Perrine with the help of well made stereopticon views. Wonders of architecture and beauties of nature did not take all the speaker's time, however. As Emerson said, a nation is judged by its women. If that be true, American is a land of superb civilization; India a nation dark indeed. In India swarm three hundred and fifty million people. Of this vast number fifty million never have enough to eat." Dr. Perrine told of marriage and social customs, of the old Vedanta and other Indian faiths, of cities and of wilderness, and on all phases of his subject he spoke as a man who knew.

Dr. Samuel Alden Perrine is a man of education and culture, having spent years in study as well as travel and boasting direct descent—the eighth generation—from John Alden, made famous by Longfellow's epic of Colonial life. Dr. Perrine was secured for the Jacksonville chautauqua but a few days since. On receipt of word of Nat M. Brigham's death, the directors made steps at once to fill the vacancy and Dr. Perrine was called.

The White City Grows.
Eight tents went up yesterday, bringing the number occupied by families, parties, business firms and other organizations almost to the eighty mark. Practically all of the campers were on the grounds yesterday and most remained for the night. With the drying effect of one more day's sun, all will return and the city of tents will be full. Talk of naming tents was current among campers last night, some have selected appellations and by Monday it is probable that names will be generally posted.

An automobile line to the south and west of the big tent spoke well for the improving roads. A near accident in one section of bleachers Saturday evening in the auditorium tent was due to slipping of the supports. There was some alarm, but no one was hurt and the presence of mind of the college girl musicians, helped quiet uneasiness. Carpenters were arranged for and before Sunday school time this morning these bleachers will be double strengthened.

German submarines continue to sink several ships each day. In the meantime people are wondering what has become of the much vaunted English navy.

It begins to look as though fixing the blame for the Eastland disaster will reach about the same result as did the investigation of the Iroquois theatre fire.

The Optimistic club has returned from a camping trip at Wolf Lake and reports a fine time and good fishing. The members of this club are surely deserving of their name if they could stay long at Wolf Lake and enjoy themselves.

We don't know whether it was the coming of Mr. Bryan or not but the first day of the chautauqua was a typical democratic day. This should refute the statement of many that Mr. Bryan is no longer a democrat.

We appreciate the fact that some of the stuff we write is worthy of the shears. However, it would be better if some credit was given occasionally.

The melancholy days have come The saddest of the year, When new fall styles are coming in And not a jitney near.

Linotype Bulletin.
HELP WANTED—First-class machinist-operator to run Model 10 in town of 1,000. Preference to practical printer who can handle trombone, cello or trap drums in good orchestra, and who has $3,000 to $5,000 to put up brick building. Attractive proposition, absolutely safe. No experiment. Address F. C. Marshall, Niobrara, Neb.

That man don't want a machine operator he wants a whole village. He probably will look in vain for a man with all those talents, and then we never heard of a linotype operator having $5,000. If he had that much he wouldn't be looking for work.

Jones—Why do they call William J. Bryan the great commoner?
Smith—Because he said he couldn't live on $12,000 a year.

In Warren county they are thinking of adopting a device that will prevent people from listening to telephone conversations. It is said that even the operator cannot listen to a conversation. If it is true it will be a great thing but what we need in Jacksonville is something to prevent the operators from breaking our ear drums by ringing in our ears when we are not looking.

Many people are beginning to believe that the Russian troops have been practicing retreating even since the Russo-Japanese war. That is all they have been doing for the last six months and according to the dispatches all their retreats are masterly efforts in the retreating line.

AGRICULTURE BOARD MAKES CROP STATEMENT

Review Is Based On Correspondence Reports From All Over State—Optimistic Tone Justified By Facts.

From reports of crop correspondents to the Illinois State Board of Agriculture under date of August 1, the following information is obtained:

Corn.

There were 8,796,842 acres planted to corn for the crop of 1915, northern Illinois reporting 3,635,430, central Illinois 3,952,440 acres and southern Illinois 1,388,972 acres. Corn on lowlands has been practically drowned out. Excessive rains and cool weather retarded the growth of corn, but the August 1 condition, 85 per cent of normal, is 24 points better than the condition of a year ago. The August 1 condition of corn is reported as 84 percent of normal in northern Illinois, 93 per cent in central Illinois and 77 per cent in the southern division of the state.

Wheat.

The area seeded to wheat for the crop of 1915 was 2,020,675 acres, all of which was winter wheat with the exception of 42,482 acres. Eight per cent of the winter wheat area was winter killed, or destroyed by floods or Hessian fly, leaving 1,871,658 acres of wheat (spring and winter), for harvest. The average yield per acre was 23 bushels in northern Illinois, 23 bushels in central Illinois, and 14 bushels in southern Illinois, a state average of 19 bushels, the total yield amounting to 35,752,952 bushels. The ruling price of wheat on August 1 was $1.00 per bushel, the total value of the crop at this price amounting to $35,727,193.

Oats.

The area seeded to oats for 1915 was reported at 4,922,927 acres, of which 2,071,163 acres were reported from northern Illinois, 1,980,860 acres from central Illinois and 870,904 acres from southern Illinois. In northern Illinois the yield was 47 bushels per acre, in central Illinois 45 bushels, and in southern Illinois 32 bushels, a state average of 44 bushels. The total yield amounted to 216,385,726 bushels and the value of the crop at the average price of 37 cents per bushel amounted to $79,722,556. Oats harvest was delayed on account of rain and some oats reported growing in shock.

Rye.

There are 171,674 acres of winter rye reported this year. The average yield per acre was 17 bushels and the total yield amounted to 2,926,804 bushels. The average price on August 1 was 87 cents per bushel and the total value of the crop amounted to $2,560,370.

Barley.

There are 44,963 acres of barley reported this year. The average yield per acre was 25 bushels and the total yield amounted to 1,146,289 bushels. The ruling price on August 1 was 73 cents per bushel and the total value of the crop amounted to $833,760.

Hay.

The area devoted to meadows is reported as 4,506,957 acres. The average yield per acre, one and one-half tons is above the average yield for the past six years and the total yield amounted to 6,888,057 tons. The average price per ton on August 1 was $11.10 and the total value of the crop amounted to $76,309,678. The August 1 condition of clover was 90 per cent of normal and the average yield 1.2-3 tons per acre.

Pastures.

The area devoted to pastures is reported as 2,796,358 acres in northern Illinois, 2,399,725 acres in central Illinois and 2,099,967 acres in southern Illinois. Pastures are reported in excellent condition on August 1, the state average being 101 per cent of normal, which is 58 points better than their condition of a year ago.

Apples.

The prospect for the apple crop is most favorable, the August 1 condition being 98 per cent in northern and central Illinois and 99 per cent in the southern division of the state.

Live Stock.

Farm animals are reported in a healthy condition, with the exception of a few cases of hog cholera and distemper.

BOY FROM BAVARIA.

Chief of Police Davis has a boy at the station that he is trying to find a place for. The boy's name is Frank Bergmoser and he comes from Peart-enkirchen, Bavaria. The boy is an intelligent lad of sixteen years and was educated in the school of his native town. He came here when thirteen years of age and has been employed in the steel mills in Pennsylvania. He arrived in town yesterday and was directed to the police station.

Bergmoser is in the United States on a passport and when he reaches the age of 17 years he must go back to his native land to serve in the army. If he becomes a naturalized citizen before then he will be able to remain here. Chief Davis is trying to get him a place on some farm as he seems to be a well behaved lad. Bergmoser has an uncle who is an officer in the German army now operating in Russia.

CASE COMPROMISED.

The case of the commissioners of Road District No. 3 against James M. Rexroat was before Justice Dyer Saturday. The case was caused by Mr. Rexroat not cutting a hedge fence on his property. The case was compromised by Mr. Rexroat agreeing to cut the hedge within ninety days.

HOPI INDIANS DANCE WITH SNAKES IN MOUTH.

Annual Nine Day Celebration in Northern Arizona is Under Way.

Flagstaff, Ariz., Aug. 21.—The annual nine-day celebration of the Hopi Indians in northeast Arizona is under way. Feasting and wild ceremonies to beseech the gods for good crops have begun, and preparations have been made for the great snake dance, which is the final event and the most spectacular of all, during which the dancers carry live snakes in their mouths.

The Hopis hold their ceremonies during the end of August. The Indians of the principal Hopi pueblos of Arizona gather for the event. Snake-priests, known as sustainers, carriers and collectors, or rather to this effect in the Indian language, form the principal figures in the final rites, which are always held out of doors. A few maidens are also called upon to perform, their part being to scatter sacred meal on the participants as a sacrifice to the gods.

The dance takes place in the plaza at the village, one side of which is built a bower of cottonwood branches, in which the keeper of the snakes sits with jars containing venomous species. The reptiles are handed out by him to the "carriers." The dancers march in file around the plaza, each stamping on a small board set in the ground as a notation to the gods of the underworld that a ceremony is about to begin. Then they assume their places in two files facing each other. They chant and sway for a few minutes, shaking their rattles.

The file of snake-priests then breaks up and they dance around in a circle, receiving the snakes as they pass the brush-house, the "carrier" holding one or more in his mouth, the "sustainer" diverting the attention of the snakes with a feather wand, while the "collector" attends to gathering the stray snakes. After this wild and dangerous dance, the snakes are dropped on the ground, to be received by the "collectors," who keep them in their hands until completion of the ceremony, when priests carry the snakes swiftly to the country below and releases them.

The ceremony originated and is kept up in accordance with the belief that the first children of a union between an ancestral culture-hero and a mythical snake princess were rattlesnakes, and hence the elder brother of the latter generation. Being sprung from a source in some respects supernatural, snakes are believed to be in close touch with the god that controls rain, which insures the crops and other blessings needed by the Hopi tribe, whose country is arid and desolate.

None of the Hopi tribe would willingly kill a snake, poisonous or harmless, as they are regarded as sacred and imbued with some of the peculiar attributes and powers of the gods. In their ceremonies rattlesnakes are principally used, but, due to care in handling them, accidents rarely happen during the ceremonies.

The Hopi priests become so wrought up over the dance as it progresses that the horror does not appear amid the rhythmic movement and tragic gestures of the dancers. The priests are long-haired and painted in lurid colors. A chorus of tribesmen forms the orchestra, and the music comes from rattles that beat time for the dance.

The snake dance is not the only big event of the nine-day celebration. A snake race is enjoyed by the Indian boys. There is an antelope dance and other fantastic dances in which the entire tribe takes part.

The spectators form a cosmopolitan crowd. Cowboys, prospectors, army officers, scientists, photographers and tourists mingle with the Hopis. This year an unusual number of tourists are in the region awaiting the snake-dance, which is the only one of the many sacred rites that is performed in the open.

RELEASED ON BOND.

Orville Poffenbarger, who was arrested some time ago on the charge of wife abandonment, was taken before Justice Dyer Saturday and released on bond. Poffenbarger has a job that will pay him about $6 per week and the court did not see the logic of keeping him in jail.

DARKNESS.

Darkness is a condition which occurs when the sun goes off duty at night. It is very thick and black and is distinguished for its entire absence of light. If a thousand square miles of darkness could be run through a cipher press it would not yield enough light to satisfy an engaged couple in a lonely parlor.

Darkness is also a boon to the man who has bought his first Palm Beach suit. Many a man has worn one of these suits around the block at night for a week before he has had the courage to ejaculate himself into the busy life in all his spotless radiance.

Darkness has saved more farmers' wives than medicine ever did. Farmers' wives have to stop work shortly after dark, because of the high price of kerosene.

If there was no darkness the residents of New York City would have to live by daylight and vast numbers of them would expire of ennui and other contagious diseases.

Darkness has enabled astronomers to take long refreshing squints at the universe and by means of the stars to weigh the earth and calculate its size. It has also enabled enterprising captains of industry to put electric signs on top of the Palisades and to say things to 5,000,000 people at one time.

Moreover, darkness is a soft thick veil which hides a million billboards from the suffering public. For this reason alone we should be very grateful to darkness and encourage it by every means in our power, even by refusing to pay gas bills when they are too high.

S. S. S. Greatest Blood Remedy Gives Results When Others Fail

Nature's Remedy For Blood Troubles.

The purifying and curative properties of Nature's great remedy have made "S. S. S. for the Blood" a household name. Thousands today enjoying perfect health owe their recovery from blood or skin diseases to this universally used blood purifier. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, which possess cleansing and healing ingredients. You cannot be well when your blood is impure; you lack strength and energy natural with health; your complexion becomes pale and sallow; your vitality is weakened. When waste or refuse matter, which Nature intends shall be thrown off, is left in the system, it is absorbed into the blood and boils, pimples, rashes, blotches and other eruptions of the skin appear.

S. S. S. goes into the circulation and removes every particle of blood taint or poison of every character. All skin diseases and eruptions pass away, and the smooth clear skin, glowing with health, shows that the body is being nourished by rich, pure blood. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, all are deep-seated blood disorders, and for their treatment nothing equals S. S. S. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. WHITE SOX AND YANKS SPLIT DOUBLE HEADER

CHICAGO WINS FIRST IN ELEVEN INNINGS.

Game Is a Great Pitching Duel Between Scott and Caldwell—Fisher Proves a Puzzle to Chicagoans in Second.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The Chicago White Sox broke even with New York in a double header today, winning the first contest after eleven innings, 1 to 0, in a great pitching duel between Scott and Caldwell, and losing the second, 2 to 3, because of the great pitching of Fisher.

Fisher was a puzzle to the locals in the second. Joe Jackson, who was purchased from the Cleveland Americans by the White Sox played center field for the locals today.

SPORTING NOTES.
Thirty days of horse racing is an attraction that has brought some of the best thoroughbreds to San Francisco, to the opening day.

The auto dare-devils have a second melon to cut today at Elgin, where the $6,000 purse and the Elgin trophy is hung up for a 301 mile race.

The San Francisco regatta event for today include races for schooners and handicap race for yaws.

The next heavyweight bout of importance is the match between Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, and Jim Coffey, Ireland's hope, set for October 19 at New York.

Mike Gibbons, who is supposed to get $15,000 for his share in the bout with Paakey McCarland next month, was formerly a tinsmith in St. Paul at 121-2 cents for a half hour's work.

LINCOLN JUBILEE FOR NEGROES.
Chicago, Aug. 21.—The story of the progress of the negro race during the past fifty years will be shown by the big exposition which opens here tomorrow, known as the Lincoln Jubilee and Half-Century Exposition. The majestic figure of Lincoln, the emancipator of the colored race, will occupy the place of honor at the Coliseum where the fair will be held. Around the statue will be arranged the exhibits of 350 negro educational institutions. Thirty-two states are represented at the fair, besides the governments of Haiti and Liberia and church denominations. Bishop Samuel Fallows has headed the commission which arranged the exposition, and Cardinal Gibbons is one of the honorary vice-presidents.

The exposition will be formally opened tomorrow, and will continue until Sept. 16, during which period official delegations of negroes will take part in many celebrations.

One of the most interesting exhibits is a collection of Lincoln relics, said to be the most complete collection ever gathered.

Misses Mildred and Alma Smith, of Fourth Church street, are at home after a visit with their sister, Mrs. Swaine Marshall, in Beardstown. They were accompanied home by their sister, who will remain here for several days to attend the chaqueta.

GILBERT ANDERSON WINS ELGIN NATIONAL TROPHY

TIME IS TWO MILES FASTER THAN COOPER'S RECORD.

Cooper Is Second. O'Donnell Third and DePalma Fourth—No Accidents to Either Spectators or Contestants.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 21.—Gilbert Anderson today won the sixth annual renewal of the 301 mile road race for the Elgin national trophy. His time was 3:53:25, an average of 77.25 miles per hour, or nearly three miles faster than the record established by Ralph DePalma who won last year, when Anderson was second and two miles faster than Cooper's record yesterday.

Earl Cooper was second. Cooper won the race over the same distance yesterday with Anderson second. Both drove the same make of American car. DePalma was picked to win by the experts and drove a magnificent race but Ed O'Donnell nosed him out of third place by seconds. There were twelve starters. Summary:

Driver	Elapsed time	Av. time
Anderson	3:53:25	77.25
Cooper	3:57:29	76.25
O'Donnell	3:59:01	75.76
DePalma	3:59:15	75.69

Oldfield flagged at 259 miles. Henning flagged at 250 miles. Chandler flagged at 226 miles. Jones and Brown alternating, flagged at 207 miles.

Henderson, broke down at 150 miles. Burt out with engine trouble at 108 miles.

Robillard disqualified after 83 miles because wheels dangerous condition.

Buzane broke down at start. Despite rain last night the track was in good condition and a moderate size crowd lined the course.

Anderson was born in Norway and for years was a marine engineer. He gained a reputation for nerve in 1909 when as a mechanic he lay alongside the cylinders of his car for fifty miles at Crown Point, Ind., adjusting the carburetor. In 1911 he drove five hundred miles at the Indianapolis speedway without a single mechanical adjustment.

There were no accidents to spectators or contestants.

'MORNING GLANCES' (By Gosh)
Pittsburgh beat Newark yesterday by a score of 4 to 2. Pittsburgh pulled off some inside baseball which together with the pitching of Knetzer brought the victory.

Chicago was defeated in a double header Saturday by Buffalo. The scores were 9 to 2 and 5 to 2. Buffalo hit Hendrix, Black and Brennan hard, Dalton and Chase getting home runs off of Brennan in the second game.

The White Sox broke even with New York in a double header yesterday. In the first game Scott and Caldwell indulged in a pitching duel. Scott finally winning by a score of 1 to 0. In the second game Fisher was a puzzle to the Sox and New York won by a score of 3 to 2. Joe Jackson purchased from Cleveland, played center field for the Sox.

Philadelphia put quite a crimp in the Cub's pennant aspirations yesterday when she won a double header. The score of the first game was 7 to 5 and the second was 3 to 2. In the second game the Cubs got eleven hits to six for the Phillies but poor support of the Cub pitchers lost the game.

The Braves beat the Pirates two games yesterday and stepped back into third place in the National league race. Both games were pitching duels. Rudolph and Nehf outpitching Kantelehnner and Mamaux.

St. Louis won from New York yesterday by a score of 5 to 4. The game went thirteen innings. St. Louis knocked Marquard from the rubber in the second and Stroud who replaced him pitched great ball but the Cardinals counted the winning run in the thirteenth.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati divided a double header yesterday, the Reds taking the first game and Brooklyn the second. The second game was a pitcher's battle between Schneider and Dell.

Philadelphia lost to Cleveland yesterday by a score of 5 to 3. Mitchell did not allow Philadelphia a hit until the eighth inning, while Sheehan was hit hard by Cleveland.

Boston continued her victorious march in the American yesterday when she won from St. Louis by a score of 4 to 1. Wellman held Boston to six hits but most of them were bunched in the fourth with an error by Agnew counting three runs.

Brooklyn in the Federal league beat St. Louis a double header Saturday, the first by a score of 3 to 1 and the second by a score of 8 to 1. In the second game Chief Bluejacket held St. Louis to two singles.

Kansas City made a clean sweep of the series Saturday when they beat Baltimore by a score of 6 to 0. The game was stopped in the seventh inning by rain.

Jack Barry is making a great showing with the Red Sox, duplicated Edlie Collins' work with the White Sox. Pity both can't be in the world's series.

Merely "Oil" Won't Do Here

Consider running your motor without any lubricant. That is only a much quicker way to ruin it than to run it with a poor oil. It takes longer, that is all.

An oil that does any damage has no place in any car, for the function of a lubricant is to protect friction-surfaces. The ease of running—easy action and full power—simply goes along with this protection.

Some oils are better than others, but only the best should be used. Anything less is injurious.

The question is—Which are the best oils?

Polarine

is made in the largest plant of its kind in the world. Here is every known facility, collected after years of experience, for the production of the perfect oil. Here is a great laboratory. Here are chemical specialists—experts who have spent years working out lubricating problems of all kinds. Their prestige is at stake on every one of their recommendations.

Polarine is their recommendation for all standard makes and types of motor cars, motor trucks and motor boats in use today.

No better oil can be made, yet Polarine costs no more than poorer oils. Our profits come from volume, for we are selling Polarine at the rate of 7,000,000 gallons yearly.

Use an oil about which you know all the facts. Ask your dealer for the facts. All first class dealers, garages and filling stations can supply you with Polarine. Insist on getting it.

ECHOES FROM LOS ANGELES
CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION

The Rev. M. L. Pontius Attended International Gathering in Southern California City—Delegates Number 2,500.

Many marks of progress were noted and great missionary opportunities were set forth last month in the eight-day program of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, in session at Los Angeles, July 18-25, and attended by 2,500 delegates from all parts of the union and most countries of the world. Every organization of the Christian church had place on the program, according to the Rev. M. L. Pontius, pastor of Central Christian church, but representatives of the Men and Millions movement, bulked large in the convention sessions.

Especially active in work for the convention's success was the Rev. Russell F. Thrapp, formerly of this city, and now pastor of the largest Christian church in southern California, the First Christian church of Los Angeles. Rev. Mr. Thrapp was on the building committee and his labors were appreciated by the convention delegates. Sessions were held in the Bible Institute, a building seating 4,000 people, and on several occasions, the large auditorium was filled and overflowing. Des Moines, Ia., was selected as the next meeting place. The convention will be called during the autumn months, and returning to the middle west, will give Illinois people opportunity to attend in large numbers.

Mr. Pontius' Address.
Mr. Pontius addressed the convention at the Foreign Christian Missionary society session Tuesday forenoon, July 20. His subject was the "Power of Money", and the two addresses following were on "The Power of Intercession" and "The Power of Sacrifice". Mr. Pontius spoke of money as an evil and money as a good. He discussed the power of money to corrupt mankind and continued with discussion of its enormous power to bless. Mr. Pontius has prepared the address for publication and it will shortly appear in the Christian Evangelist and the Christian Intelligencer.

The official program of the convention, brought by Mr. Pontius from Los Angeles, summarizes in brief from the century long growth of the Disciples of Christ. "In the year 1817," says the sketch, "the Disciples of Christ numbered thirty. Today they number 1,370,512. They have missions on all the continents and on the islands of the sea. Institutions of learning that are doing good work; a respectable literature; benevolent institutions of growing power; a church extension fund of 2 million dollars; an evangelism and a Sunday school work of marvellous dimensions and efficiency, and a worthy beginning of an adequate pension fund for those who devote their lives to the cause. The blessings of God has rested upon this people from the first."

Nothing was more notable, Mr. Pontius observed, than the unanimity with which delegates attended the sessions. With so much to see in Los Angeles' scenic environs, credit is due to large numbers who attended every session.

"While the Iron is Hot"
"Strike while the iron is hot," said more than one speaker in effect, while urging the necessity of quick action in mission work. In China many fields are open which before could not be touched. One instance is recorded where a Confucian temple has been thrown open for the use of Christian missionaries.

Alaskan missions were the subject of much attention. The opportunities there are many and growing and responsibilities will increase as the land is developed. A commission, appointed by the convention, will go soon to Alaska, and upon completing a survey of religious needs, will take immediate steps to establish missions and Sunday schools.

Southern California people showed the most liberal hospitality and several forms of unusual entertainment were prepared for the delegates. C. C. Chapman, "the orange king", seemed the leader. He gave the convention delegates a banquet and on another occasion, took the company to Long Beach as his guests.

COURT DENIES PETITION.

Judge Thomson Would Not Consent to Sale of Mercantile Stock.

In the county court Saturday Judge William E. Thomson denied a petition of G. O. Bradford, conservator of Mildred Bradford to sell five shares of stock in a mercantile business. Mildred Bradford is an heir of the late G. D. Bradford and is incompetent to look after her affairs. The stock in question is invested in the firm of Weise and Bradford of Greenville, conducting a general mercantile business.

According to the petitioner, G. O. Bradford, the shares are five in number with a par value of $500. According to the inventory filed the shares are valued at $1,000. The income accruing from the five shares since 1907 has been $100 per year or ten per cent on the investment. In his petition the conservator says that he wants to transfer the stock to George V. Weise. The petitioner further states that if the late G. D. Bradford had lived that it would have been done. The petitioner further states that it is the desire to sell the stock and invest the money in securities that would bring as large an income as the present stock, and further that it would be a safer investment. The court evidently thought that an investment paying ten per cent was pretty good at the present time for he denied the petition.

HIGH WATER.

Reports of high water continue to come in from various sources and it would seem as if there were heavy rains above this place as the Manvalterre is reported rising, or was so reported yesterday. Persons living in the northwest part of the county were unable to cross north of Mt. Zion church and the Sandusky street bridge was practically impassable though it was said that a new managed to get across the low land north of the bridge. Almost all came to North Main street and crossed at the site of the old Morgan mill and the water was up to the axles and over along the concrete road south of the bridge. The water came up into buggy beds at the crossing under the C. & A. bridge northeast of the city and there it was reported that the water was getting higher rather than lower.

SAYS FINES WERE UNFAIR.

The Journal is a receipt of a communication addressed to citizens and signed "A Citizen." The writer states that some weeks ago when colored men were arrested for gambling that they were subsequently fined $28.30 and had the alternative of paying this sum each or going to jail for 12 days. He states further that more recently white men were arrested on a like charge and that their fines were but $15. From this statement the writer goes on to declare that the colored men are discriminated against although the offenses were identical. The communication was unsigned and is, therefore, not given in full, and the Journal knows nothing about the alleged facts.

AN OLD DEED.

Ira Austin, residing on the corner of Bedwell and Cox streets, has a deed signed by Andrew Jackson, president of the United States, when the document was executed. It is on sheepskin and is a deed to government land to Abner Wright. Naturally Mr. Austin prizes the document very highly.

Mrs. Patterson of Kansas City is in the city visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Hopper, and getting acquainted with her new grandchild.

Edward Peterish of Cass county was in the city on business Saturday.

Food Value of Cheese.

Cheese is wholesome and a very valuable food. It is rich in protein and can be used as a substitute for meat. One pound of cheese is equal in protein to two pounds of beef. Cheese is indigestible if eaten raw. This may be somewhat overcome by cooking it and adding a small amount of bicarbonate of sodium. An admirable way of eating cheese is by combining it with macaroni. It is enjoyable served in the form of Welsh rabbit. To prepare Welsh rabbit use the following ingredients: One tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, half a cupful of thin cream, half a pound of sharp or mild cheese (as may be preferred) cut in small pieces, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of mustard, a few grains of cayenne and toast. Melt the butter, add the cornstarch, stir until well mixed, then add the cream gradually, cook slowly for ten minutes, season and serve poured over toasted bread.

Ancient Diamonds.

The discoverer of diamonds is unknown. From references in Exodus it is apparent that the diamond was a precious stone in Egypt in those early times, and even before that it was known in India, where probably it was first obtained. The name is derived from the Greek word "adamas," meaning "unsubduable."

From Pliny, a writer of the first century, we learn that the diamond was regarded as the most valuable of all things and only a few kings ever could afford to buy them. But as no means of artificial polishing had been discovered the stone depreciated in value, so that the ruby and the emerald became more precious. The discovery by Ludwig van Berghem in 1476 of a mode of polishing and cutting it at once returned this gem to the first place among precious stones.—Chicago Herald.

A Curious Beetle.

The little bombardier beetle because preyed upon by larger beetles of its own family has been armed by nature with what is practically a miniature cannon. When attacked the bombardier beetle turns and makes off, but if overtaken by the larger insect—bang!—and an acid fluid is shot from glands situated in the tip of its tail onto the enemy beetle. The acid when ejected vaporizes upon reaching the air and thus gives the effect of a puff of smoke from a gun, while at the same time a small but distinct report, like a tiny cannon, is heard. The bombardier beetle is a rapid flier, too, for the discharge can be repeated in quick succession, and thus the little insect keeps off his larger foes until he can scurry into a convenient hole in the soil or find shelter under a stone.—Atlanta Journal.

This Happened in New York.

"No spik English," gesticulated Hafiz with rising excitement, looking rather wildly about for an interpreter, down at the Seamen's Church Institute on South street. Arab translators are not frequent about the institute, and the man behind the desk down in the savings department was distinctly mystified, says the Lookout.

"He won't take this money; it's interest on the gold he deposited with us a year ago," he explained at last to a glittering eyed man from Bagdad who finally came to the rescue.

"On, no, he can't; Mohammedans—they can't—any of them. It is against their religion to take interest. Hafiz, he very good, very devout," protested the interpreter. And Hafiz went away, virtuously content.

Antimony.

The use of antimony is to harden the softer metals, such as tin and lead, in the manufacture of shell and bullet, babbitt for machinery bearings, type metal and castings of all kinds. In its pure state it cannot be employed for any useful purpose, owing to its extreme brittleness. Its value in alloying, however, is great, not only because it hardens metal, but because of its low melting point.

THE SAME SPIRIT

The crime of the last century was committed on Georgia soil, namely the murder by starvation of nearly 1,500 union soldiers who were confined in the charnel house at Andersonville in 1864-65. The same spirit that actuated the Andersonville murderers is responsible for the lynching of Leo M. Frank at Marietta, Ga., a few days ago. The crime of Andersonville is almost forgotten, but the recent murder of a helpless man, because of race prejudice will give the people of the nation something to think about for many a day. The Frank incident is not only a blot on the escutcheon of Georgia but is a reflection on the boasted (so-called) southern chivalry. The doing to death of Frank was by a mob, but this fact only emphasizes the further fact that public sentiment in the Goober state endorsed the action of the mob. This is especially true as applied to the public officials who had charge of the convicts at Milledgeville. Otherwise they (the guards) would have defended their charge with the last drop of their blood against the action of the Georgia chivalry. I know something about southern chivalry which is another name for southern hypocrisy in defending the honor of the women of the south, especially the mulatto and quadroon portion of the population.

I do not charge that all of the people of Georgia are bad, but the lawless element seems to predominate and venders the actions of the law-abiding element null and void, as was demonstrated all during the trial of Frank, who was convicted on the testimony of a worthless drunken negro, of taking the life of poor Mary Phagan. The same spirit that took the life of Frank hovered around the temple of justice (?) that tried (?) him, permented the court room, made a coward of the trial judge and the jury that found him guilty of being a Jew. Georgia is a good state to—stay away from. J. M. S.

—a real. automobile

—no more like the electric car of a few years ago than the Mauretania is like Fulton's steamboat. Each passing year has marked a far advance in electric car construction.

The Detroit Electric of 1916 is a modern, powerful automobile in every sense of the word. It is a car with all the speed you really need. It is a car with battery capacity which guarantees you greater mileage without recharging than you ordinarily use in a day's motoring. It is a car with plenty of power to climb hills and pull through heavy roads. Yet—even while the Detroit Electric has steadily advanced in value—the price has steadily declined through the economies of greater production.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE
By The Associated Press.)

Moscow, Russia, Aug. 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A detailed picture of the life of prisoners of war in Siberia has been received by a Moscow merchant from one of his correspondents in a large town several hundred miles in the interior of Siberia. There are over 14,000 prisoners now in this locality, he states, and preparations are being made for the reception of 10,000 more.

The correspondent declares that the lot of the prisoners is not a bad one—they are assisted to pass the time by the provisions of various amusements and occupations and the daily routine of their existence is governed along moderate and humane lines. The Germans are kept separate from other nationalities.

"From six o'clock in the morning until eight at night," writes the correspondent, "the prisoners are allowed to do gymnastic exercises, to play games, to sing, to play music. Gardening is also allowed where it is possible."

"The prisoners get the same food as Russian soldiers and all but the Germans are allowed to work privately outside."

"The Germans are not allowed to go out without a special permission, and then an armed convoy accompanies them. At the present time the Germans are working in construction camps, repairing roads or loading and unloading steamers. Five hundred Germans are planting potatoes and cabbages for themselves; 100 Germans are cutting timber for firewood."

"When new prisoners come they are immediately told that they must keep good order and that they have nothing to fear as our law obliges us to treat them kindly. Every prisoner has a right to come to see a Russian officer and to make to him complaints, and no complaint was left unattended to, and those who were guilty, either Russian soldiers or prisoners were immediately severely punished."

London, Aug. 21.—When the Italian arms were removed from the Italian embassy in Brussels, the people of Brussels knew immediately that Italy was at war with Austria and celebrated the event by wearing small Italian flags in their button-holes. But they did not wear them long, as the German authorities arrested the flag vendors and published an order against this method of showing sympathy. Whereupon all the Belgians went about with small pieces of macaroni tied to their lapels according to a story authenticated by a traveler recently in Brussels.

Orders had been published that there should be no display of national insignia or national colors of either Belgium or her allies. When the Belgian national holiday came around black flags were hung out of every Belgian home. A number of offenders were accordingly arrested. They pleaded that he order said "colors" and black was no color but the absence of color. Therefore they had not violated the order.

Paris, Aug. 21.—The Turco-Algerian rifleman—and other soldiers of the Mohammedan faith from other parts of Africa serving in the French army, now drink their coffee at sunset, take their lunch thirty minutes later and have their dinner at midnight. This turning of night into day is the consequence of the Ramadan, the annual fast of the Mussulman, extending over a period of a month from July 13 to August 12th, during which he abstains from food and drink every day between dawn and sunset.

Following the rule established last year, to respect the religious feasts of all soldiers in the French army and facilitate their observance, the minister of war ordered that the commissary department furnish supplies to the Mohammedan soldiers in accordance with their traditions.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A woman socialist discusses in the Vorwarts the view held by many of her sex in Germany that the war will bring women nearer the goal of political equality. She says:

"We want the people of our party not to cherish too many hopes, and to remember that every privilege which has any value and brings us forward must be won. The war has perhaps brought us nearer to enfranchisement in that the opponents of female suffrage have been deprived of many of their most serviceable arguments, and, above all, because the least interested woman must clearly see how urgently women citizens need political influence, which they can exercise only through the vote. The bare fact that a war of such tremendous effect, such widespread dimensions, and such painful losses in every belligerent country could have come to pass, must create in women—who are most deeply affected—a resolve to cooperate in the prevention of future wars."

"After the war a struggle to bring about a readjustment of political power will recommend. Women will take part in it more than hitherto, because the war has taught them how much the state stands in need of their responsible cooperation."

"Above all things we must now follow and study attentively political events and economic and social measures, for this knowledge of what is occurring in public life gives us the right and power to express our views and represent our demands. Many of our party comrades have been killed, and our ranks thinned. We women must, therefore, see to it that new partisans, sincere and unflinching advocates of democracy and socialism, come to us. It must be our task to strengthen and consolidate the party, for nothing but the strengthening of democracy in Germany and the permeation of our whole political life with democratic ideas will bring us a lasting peace and female suffrage."

Dunkirk, France, Aug. 21.—The present position at Hill 60, which the British military authorities recently admitted had lapsed back into German possession, is peculiar and a great interest.

The hill is really nothing but a knoll of gently rising ground that forms the end of the Klein-Zillebeke ridge. The German trenches run in a double tier along the crest and upper slope, while the British trenches form an irregular line along the edge of the lower slope. The Germans are at the top of the hill, while the British are a little way up the side of it.

The whole face of the hill presents a picture of the wildest confusion. Everywhere are huge craters, the result of mine explosions on the night of the British attack. Torn and gaping sandbags are scattered in profusion, broken rifles, odds and ends of equipment of all kinds, smashed barbed wire, and a mass of other debris lies in bewildering variety down the hillside, the whole half-hidden in the long grass that has sprung up between the trenches.

The trenches twist and wind in a remarkable manner. At one point there is an old communication trench running from the British lines straight into the heart of the German position, and down this two barricades have been erected, one on the English side and one on the German side. Here the opposing forces come within six yards of each other. Between the rival barricades there stretches as horizontal patch of ground shut in on either hand by the crumbling walls of the old trench.

At one spot a railway bridge spans the British position, and in the cutting beneath it a large pool of stagnant water has collected. Beyond it stretches the railway line, the rails torn and twisted, and partly covered with the weeds growing between the ties. The line is under direct fire from the German lines, and to cross it in the open would mean certain death from snipers in the opposite trench forty yards away. In the pool below the bridge a score or more of bodies have been lying for some weeks and no man dares approach to bring them out for burial.

Madrid, Spain, Aug. 21.—The Spanish government has taken far-reaching action to foster manufacturing. A recent decree of the secretary of the treasury, provides for certain tax and import exemptions to be enjoyed for a limited period by stock companies formed for the exploitation of one or more branches of manufacture or industry which do not exist in the kingdom, or which, while existing to a certain extent, fail to produce enough of their products for the home consumption of Spain.

As the Spanish Treasury is running at a daily increasing loss this step on the part of the Dato Ministry is considered to be dictated by the hope that such financial concessions to new companies, and to old companies embarking upon new fields, will in the end increase the revenues of the government. The plan has the added advantage, also, of being the first step towards making Spain somewhat more economically and industrially independent than she has been since the invention of modern machinery.

Paris, Aug. 21.—France has expended $384,000,000 during the first year of the war in feeding the wives and families of mobilized soldiers and workers thrown out of employment. There are at present three million persons receiving allowances from the state.

In the beginning a great many people entitled to these allowances preferred not to claim them, considering it an easy patriotic sacrifice for them to make, but as the war dragged on, and these resources diminished, they were finally obliged to avail themselves of state aid.

Liverpool, Eng., Aug. 21.—The demand for steamships for government purposes has forced the shipping trade back on the long rejected sailing vessel. Many of these which were chartered when steamer rates were at their highest, are now arriving at British ports. The Mersey river is full of tapering spars and rigging not seen for about fifty years. The "Asia," just arrived, was built fifty years ago, the "Staut" is 45 years of age, the "Erbin" under the Norwegian flag just in from Gulf ports making the journey in 35 days is 28 years old, while several others range from 29 to 38 years.

Cardiff, Wales, Aug. 21.—Considerable interest is being taken in ship ping circles in the inauguration of a system of "barging" Welsh coal to France and Spain. The barge plan has been adopted because of great delays in handling coal at Continental ports since the war. As some 7-12 million tons of coal were exported to France in 1913 the method assumes considerable importance to the Welsh coal trade.

Two sailing vessels of 2800 tons dead weight each have been purchased and turned into sea-going barges; these will be towed to their destinations and dropped at the entrance to the port to await berthing facilities or act as coal hulks. Liners can also coal from the barges or the latter can utilize river and canal communications.

A PAIR OF NEW BOOTS.

They Figured In an Amusing Case of Mistaken Identity.

It may be doubted if there ever occurred a more amusing instance of mistaken identity than that afforded by Theodore Hook, and it came about through a pair of boots. Hook was traveling along the south coast of England and arrived in the course of his journey at Dover.

Alighting at the Ship hotel, he changed his boots, ordered a slight dinner and went out for a stroll through the town. Returning at the appointed time, he was surprised to find the whole establishment in confusion. A crowd had collected outside the door. The master of the house was standing at the foot of the stairs with two candles in his hands, and on Theodore's entrance he walked backward before him and conducted him into the principal saloon, where all the waiters were standing and a magnificent repast had been provided.

The wit was much amused at the dignity to which he had been promoted, but, being an easy going fellow, made no scruples and, sitting down, did full justice to what was set before him. Next day he signified his intention of departing and ordered a coach, when, to his astonishment, a carriage and four drove up to convey him to his destination. He inquired with some apprehension what he was to pay for all this grandeur and was no less astonished than gratified when he received a low bow and the answer, "Nothing whatever, your royal highness."

He was never more thoroughly mystified, but the next night on taking off his boots, which he had bought in London ready made just before he went to Dover, he found "H. S. H. the Prince of Orange" written inside them. They had been originally made for the prince, who was then in England suing for the hand of Princess Charlotte, and notice had been given that all his expenses while in the country should be set down to the charge of the government.

The End In View

If you mean to act nobly and seek to know the best things which God hath put within the reach of men you must fix your mind on that end and not what will happen to you because of it.—George Eliot.

The Wrong Car.

There is the old story of the man who boarded three cars, only to discover that none of them was the car he wanted. Boarding a fourth in a high state of irritation, he waxed a trifle profane in his conversation with the conductor. A severely pious looking old man sitting near the door overheard and remarked a little sharply: "My friend, did you know that you are on the road to perdition?"

"Well, if I'm not on the wrong car again!" was the retort of the unabashed passenger.—Every Week.

Not Infallible.

The new system of memory training was being taught in a village school, and the teacher was becoming enthusiastic.

"You see," he said, addressing the bright pupil, "in order to fix a thing in your mind you should conjure up some sort of picture in your mind's eye, representing what you want to bear in mind."

"Yes, sir," said the bright pupil. "It sounds very nice, and I've no doubt the advice is excellent if you could tell me what it means."

"Well, for instance," said the teacher, "supposing you want to remember the name of a poet—Bobby Burns. Fix in your mind's eye a picture of a policeman in flames. See—Bobby Burns!"

"Yes, I see, sir," said the bright pupil. "But how is one to know that it does not represent Robert Browning?"
—London Globe.

He Was Sarcastic.

A man in the English veteran reserves was called up recently. After a week at his new quarters he was brought up before the officer commanding for not cleaning his rifle one day. Said the officer commanding: "Hem, you're an old soldier re-enlisted. I see. I suppose it will be many years ago since you were reprimanded? What was your last offense? Can you remember what it was?"

The old soldier, with irony on account of the repeated assertions to his age, replied, "For not cleaning my bow an' arrow, sir!"

Paris, Aug. 21.—Pending the manufacture of the new steel helmets of the French army, 700,000 steel head-shields have been sent to the front. This is the only species of armor that the soldiers have been permitted to use as most of the cuirasses, chest protectors, head protectors, coats-of-mail and bucklers that were offered proved to be almost as dangerous as the enemy's bullets. The head shield, however, as it is used was recently proved by statistics to have saved a great many lives.

PAN-AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS TO MEET SOON

Arrangements Made on Comprehensive Scale for Big Conference in Oakland.

New York, Aug. 21.—The Pan-American Road Congress, which will assemble at Oakland, California, September 13, has been arranged on a most comprehensive scale. The fact that nearly all of the states of the Union now have state highway departments, and that the Canadian provinces in North America, Guatemala, San Salvador, Costa Rica, Honduras and Panama in Central America; Colombia, Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Ecuador, Peru and Guianas in South America, all are pushing road construction energetically, emphasizes the usefulness to civilization of the Pan-American Road Congress, where universal American methods and practices may be studied and discussed.

Brazil and Argentina have problems in road building similar to those in central and eastern portions of the United States and the eastern Canadian provinces. Chile, Peru, Colombia and Bolivia may be compared, in road possibilities and requirements, to the Pacific slope and Rocky mountain region of the United States and British Columbia. All America meets on common ground when roads are to be built.

Peru and Chile and Bolivia have some specimens of wonderful roads built by the ancient Aztecs; Brazil has some roads built nearly three hundred years ago by the Portuguese; and in various parts of Central America there are examples of remarkable road construction. It is probable that during the discussions at the Pan-American Road Congress much scientific information concerning these ancient highways may be presented by the official delegates of the countries named.

The Municipal Auditorium at Oakland, where the Pan-American Road Congress will assemble September 13, is admirably equipped for the deliberations of a large gathering; and as the congress is to be held during what is considered the choicest season of the year, opportunity is afforded to see the Pacific Coast at its best, combining pleasure with business.

Governor Ernest Lister of Washington, in behalf of his state and of the Spokane Good Roads Association, has extended an invitation to the members of the Congress to visit the state of Washington and the city of Spokane, and inspect the roads work which is being done there. Those who avail themselves of the invitation are assured a cordial and hospitable welcome.

The American Road Builders' Association and the American Highway Association, which have joined forces this year for the organization of the Pan-American Road Congress, are being aided on the Pacific Slope by the Tri-State Good Roads Association and the Pacific Highway Association. Mr. Samuel Hill, well known to road builders both in the United States and abroad, is president of the latter organization which will hold its annual convention September 16, in San Francisco.

Wednesday, Sept. 15, is to be Pan-American Road Congress day at the Panama-Pacific exposition, and the two sessions of the Congress on that day will be held in Festival Hall on the exposition grounds. Thursday, Sept. 16, will be Pacific Highway Day at the Congress.

The officials in charge of the organization of the Pan-American Road Congress are: Governor Charles W. Gates, of Vermont, chairman; Major W. Crosby, Munsey building, Baltimore, program; Mr. J. E. Pennybacker, Willard building, Washington, D. C., arrangements; Mr. James H. MacDonald, New Haven, Conn., finance, and Mr. E. L. Powers, 150 Nassau street, New York, publicity.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS TODAY.

Aug. 22.
Dr. Henry Suzzallo, the new president of the University of Washington, and one of the most prominent of the younger educators of the day, is 40 years old today. From Columbia university, where he has held the chair of educational sociology for six years, he has been called to the Pacific coast to head the growing state university of Washington. He has made extensive educational investigations for the government, and has had long experience in actual teaching and organization. Dr. Suzzallo was born at San Jose, Calif., Aug. 22, 1875, and received his higher education at Leland Stanford and Columbia. At the age of 21 he entered the educational world as a teacher in California. Later he joined the faculty of Stanford University. In 1903 he joined the faculty of the Teachers' College, Columbia University. Last summer he was called to the presidency of the University of Washington. Dr. Suzzallo is prominent on the lecture platform has written extensively on educational matters, and is a frequent contributor to the magazines. Some three years ago he married Miss Edith Moore of Chicago.

Count Etienne Tisza, President of the Council of Hungary, 54 years old today.

Melville E. Stone, manager of the Associated Press, 67 years old today.

Queen Eleanor of Bulgaria, 55 years old today.

Hon. Daniel R. Anthony, Congressman from Kansas, 45 years old today.

Dr. Theodore D. A. Cockerell, famous Colorado naturalist, 49 years old today.

E. H. R. Green, son of Mrs. Hettie Green, and heir to her vast fortune, 47 years old today.

WILL MAKE TRIP NORTH.

This evening T. M. Tomlinson expects to start for Chicago where he will make extensive fall purchases and then proceed by boat to Ludington, Mich., and thence to Pentwater to join his family and start home with them in his Ford car. They expect to return by way of Kalamazoo, Mich., and there enjoy the 20th anniversary of their marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pinckney, formerly Miss Martha Mount of Jacksonville.

MISS GRAY WILL COME TO ACADEMY HALL.

The trustees of Illinois college have announced the appointment of Miss Eunice T. Gray to the position of head of academy hall for the coming year. Miss Gray graduated from Stanford university in California, and after taking a post-graduate work for a year chaperon and housemother for a sorority. Before going to California Miss Gray did preparatory work in the academy at Rockford college and also a two-year course at the University of Wisconsin. More recently she has been in charge of a home for art students at Carmel-by-the-Sea. Her experience is such that the trustees felt fortunate in having engaged her services for the academy hall position. Miss Gray has shown considerable literary ability as a contributor for papers and magazines and is also interested in music. She is to come to Jacksonville early in September to engage in her new work.

HAVE GONE TO CHICAGO.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Massey and daughter, who have been visiting relatives and friends here for the past week will leave today for Chicago where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goodrick, of Hubbard Woods. Mr. and Mrs. Goodrick are the parents of Mrs. Massey. Mr. Massey who is now located in Kansas City, is managing editor of the Implement Trade Journal. The publication is distributed among implement dealers only and circulates from the Missouri river west to the Pacific coast. Mr. Massey after going to Kansas City for a time engaged in newspaper work, is being with the Kansas City Journal. He made good and secured his present position which is a most desirable one. Mr. and Mrs. Massey like to return to Jacksonville and renew acquaintances and try to make the trip at least once each year.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and after the death of our husband and father; also for the many beautiful flowers. Mrs. John Vieira and Children.

The Scrap Book

Quick Wit Won.

George Grossmith was once singing the lord chancellor's song in "Iolanthe," which has for its refrain, "Said I to myself, said I," when something caught fire at the back of the stage. Grossmith himself wasn't aware of the occurrence, but he suddenly saw the audience jump from their seats and turn their backs on him.

At the same moment the stage manager shouted from the wings to Grossmith: "Don't stop singing! Go on, go on!"

Grossmith immediately grasped the situation and sang fortissimo some words that came to him on the spur of the moment:

I assure my friends who are ready to choke
That the fire they fear is nothing but smoke;

It is only a sort of Gilbertian joke,
Says I to myself, says I.

This gag, which at any other time would have been extremely reprehensible in a Gilbertian opera, calmed the panic, and the audience resumed their seats.—Every Week.

The Favored.

Life gave him hours of labor long
With guerdons frail and few,
And Fate no gift of precious song
For cheer the gray years through.

But God, who knew how soon the charm
Of such gifts may depart,
Gave him the greatest gift of all—
A happy heart.

He found much bitter in the cup
That he was forced to drain.
When morning's sun rose brightly up
It often set with rain.

When Fortune seemed to wander near
She came but to depart,
For he had what she could not give—
A happy heart.

A Lovely Sunday.

My man," said the traveler in his best manner, "is this a railroad station or a perpetually endowed waiting room?"

"It's a railroad station, sir," answered the polite station agent.

"Well, then, do the trains run on tracks or speculation?" he demanded.

"On tracks, sir," replied the polite station agent.

"Well, then, how is it that I've been waiting here ever since 2 o'clock for that 2:13 train, and it's now 5:15 and no train yet? Take a look at this time table and at this watch, please, and tell me why."

The polite station agent looked as requested and then said softly, "Because that's a weekday time table, sir."

It was a lovely Sunday.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Salutary Lesson.

"Now, remember your salutes," said the English corporal when posting the Irish recruit on sentry. "If you see a Lieutenant—he wears one star on his shoulder—slope arms; if a captain—two stars—slope arms; if you see a major—a crown—present arms; if the colonel—stars and crown—present and turn out the guard."

Pat pondered his orders carefully, but presently he was awakened from his reverie by the approach of the general.

That worthy son of Mars surveyed the cross swords on the gallant officer's shoulders and as he was not included in the corporal's category simply nodded cheerfully.

"Well, my man," said the genial general, "and who are you supposed to be?"

"I'm supposed to be a bit of a sentry," said Patrick. "And who are you?"

"Oh, I'm supposed to be a bit of a general," said the latter.

"A general, is it?" cried the startled Pat. "Then ye'll want something big. The corporal told me about the others, but nothing about yourself at all, at all. But hold hard a minute, and I'll give ye the bayonet exercise, if that'll do."

Squared Himself.

Fighting Lord Charlie Beresford and Sir Redvers Buller both deservedly earned a high reputation for bulldog tenacity of purpose.

During a Nile campaign Lord Charles and Sir Redvers, descending some "bad water" in a river steamer, got into a discussion as to the proper channel to be taken. Each obstinately defended his own course, but in the end Buller got his own way, with the result that the steamer ran through safely.

"You see, I was right!" cried the general. "Mine was the proper channel."

"That was mine, too," coolly replied Lord Charles. "I only recommended the other because I knew you would go against whatever I said!"

Demonstrated.

The very young minister, on trial for his first charge, was well satisfied with his sample sermon. Fully expecting a compliment, he asked one of the elders for a criticism. The old gentleman replied that "his wis guy fine words, but a bit heady for common folk."

The young man disagreed volubly, whereupon the elder proceeded to justify his opinion.

"Ye told us at the laist to 'draw an inference,' ye ken. See at this noo. Aw, Sandy!" beckoning to an old fellow member over the way. "Sandy, div ye think ye could draw an inference the day?"

Sandy gnawed his finger a full minute in silence. Then:

"Aweel," he submitted cautiously, "I amna sae strag as I wis syne, but if it wisna the Sawbath I hae a pair o' steers out yon that can fair draw the weight o' the meetin' house!"

SUMMER-TIME DESSERTS.

General directions for making desserts suitable for summer time meals have been requested and as recipes usually omit the particular needed hints I am glad to supply them.

For convenience we will divide these desserts into three sorts: those made with gelatine, from cakes and the frozen ones. The latter have been discussed so thoroughly in this department that we will not give them space here.

Materials for desserts of gelatine are molds, whips, pastry bags, tubes, sieve for straining fruit juices and a press for extracting the same.

For chocolate flavor use unsweetened chocolate of the best brand and dissolve it in hot milk. When eggs are to be used, always beat the folks and the whites separately and allow one tablespoon of sugar to sweeten each egg white. Never pour the sugar into the beaten eggs, for it destroys the delicate air cells. Put it on the side of the bowl and whip it in gently from beneath.

Cornstarch may be used to thicken fruit juices, as it becomes perfectly clear after cooking. It is not used in with gelatine. All essences and extracts are added at the last when the mixtures are cold. If orange or lemon flavor is desired squeeze the juice from the fresh fruit upon sugar and then add it to the mixture to avoid curdling the milk or cream.

Vegetable coloring pastes are harmless and great aids to coloring.

they are bought from any large grocery, but should be used sparingly as delicate colors are most attractive.

Above all things, remember that almost all gelatines are dissolved differently, so read the directions on the package you use and if you like to experiment send to the manufacturer of your favorite gelatine or cornstarch for a free book of recipes.

The proportions for custards and baked desserts are about the following:

5 eggs to thicken one quart of milk for custards.

1 tablespoon of salt to each quart of milk.

1 teaspoon of flavoring to each quart of liquid.

4 tablespoons of corn starch to one quart of milk.

3 tablespoons of baking powder to one and a half pints of flour.

1 level teaspoon of soda to one pint of soured cream.

1 level teaspoon of soda to half a pint of New Orleans molasses.

18 lady-fingers to one pint of whipped cream or chocolate russe.

1 pint of cream whipped makes about one and a half pints of whipped cream. If gelatine is added it will make one quart.

"Brown Betty" is the name given to many desserts containing stale bread or cake with apples; put alternate layers of stale sponge cake and sliced spiced apples into baking dish. Cover with a custard mixture and cook in a pan of hot water until the apples are tender. Serve with cream, whipped cream or sweet sauce. Raisins may be added if liked in desserts.

Recipe for jelly sauces for sweets: Stir half a glass of jelly until broken and smooth and then beat it into the stiff whites of eggs. This is excellent with all custards.

FARM AND CROP NOTES.

The storm of Friday coming as it did on the very eve of a rich corn harvest, at least in prospect, has rather upset the "dope" on this subject. The farmer in this section of the state had every reason to believe that the corn crop would be the greatest raised here in recent years. Friday's storm, however, has injured this crop from 10 to 15 bushels to the acre, according to conservative estimates. This has been a peculiar season certainly in regard to storms and unusually weather conditions of every kind. When it comes to such frequent rains as we have been experiencing this summer, grain and furnace fires are a common sight during the month of August, and overcasts and heavy raincoats the vogue in preference to thin dusters, there surely seems to be something radically wrong with his ribs. The Weather Man.

The past week has been a poor one for the threshing crews. They have been able to work but a few days and the voluminous downpours of the latter part of the week have been such as to discourage even the stoutest hearted crews. Their work this year has been exceedingly hard and backward. Even charging five cents a bushel there is often little money in the work for the owners of the outfits.

Threshing is in full swing in Morgan county, that is whenever the weather man so permits. He has not been kind the past week. The heavy rains have been hard to contend with this season. But on nice days the black smoke rolls from the engine stacks and the straw piles up in a yellow heap from the blower. As you come closer to the outfit you can hear the fat "chug, chug" of the engine and the hum of the separator, and sometimes a louder chugging and slower hum of the separator when the pitchers throw too many bundles in at a time.

Either on account of damaged straw, because it is so cheap, or because it has lost its bright yellow look, and is considered not worth caring for, few threshing gangs are taking the trouble to stack it. It is being blown into huge piles, and these big mountains dwarf neighboring barns and sheds, but the neatly constructed stack calculated to resist weather ravages is an uncommon sight on the landscape.

Gasoline engines are said to be seen doing the work in some places. That puts another man out of a job just the same as the elevators in the cribs have done. It does away with the water wagon and coal hauling and the getting up at 3 o'clock to fire up.

On the farms where the machine has been there is a pile of straw in the barn lot and many of the wagon tracks in and out of the gates and barn lot. Where threshing has not been done the women folks are counting the days and if it is only a short time off all hands are figuring how they can arrange it to get out of an extra meal. The farmer folks do not like to have the threshers for any more meals than they can help. But their tables do not show it. "I wonder what Jake's wife has to eat tomorrow," says the rack wagon man as he sits under his wagon waiting for his turn. "The women folks try to see which can fix the most to eat."

Threshing is getting to be easier on the men folks than on the women, or it seems to be. The main work now is pitching in the field onto the rack wagons, and pitching to the machine. That is not very hard when there are eight or ten rack wagons. The old men and boys can stack up to the separator and haul off the grain.

There is another thing that has been noticed about these places where threshing is going on. Out in the yard there are from two to five autos that have brought the men over to work and the women to help with the meals. Thus something new has taken the place of riding over on the wagon or later in the buggy.

"At threshing time there is less land in Morgan county than at any other time," said an old man who has seen many years of the work and who probably was speaking from experience. "When the farmer seeds the oats the field is twenty-five acres and he did it all in a day. The field is about twenty acres at cutting time and when the separator man tells how many bushels were threshed he says to divide it by eighteen and see what the yield will be." But the old gentleman said that in spite of that fact that the oats really are about as good as he had ever seen them.

While the old gentleman's story may be true in some cases it is the exception and not the rule. The exact acreage of the field, or of the grain in the field, is not always known, or is not carefully enough estimated sometimes, but we have not found any general tendency to knowingly overstate the facts. In carefully questioning many farmers about their grain yields we have found more who were inclined to understate than to overstate the facts. Men who are sincere and exact and conservative in other matters will be the same in giving their grain yields, and we have found that many who have the best results are distinctly conservative in stating them. After all reasonable allowance for every sort of shrinkage there is no getting away from the fact that we have a remarkably large crop of wheat and oats throughout central Illinois. These really are "bumper" crops.

There has been much more wheat stacking in this vicinity this summer than for many years. Experienced stackers were in big demand early and high prices were paid to men who could properly build a stack. It did not take some of the ambitious young farmers of the community long, however, to become adept at this art. Under the tutelage of fathers, and men more experienced in this all-but-forgotten art, the youngsters have shown great ability. It is something every young farmer should learn and know. Some day this knowledge may stand him in good stead and instead of being dependent on hired labor to solve his problems for him, he will be able to roll up his sleeves, jump in, and show them all how it should be done, how he used to do it back in the great flood year of 1915.

The tenant farmers of the lowlands are the people who have suffered particularly this year. Across the Illinois from Meredosia, in the Mechanicsburg neighborhood, the farmers report that crops have virtually been swept away. The floods earlier in the season carried away the growing grain crops, everything in fact. Since then the frequent rains have kept the ground in such condition that re-seeding has been impossible. The renters on these farms are, therefore, practically bankrupt. Their capital, small at the start, has disappeared and their fond expectations for this year's crop have faded as a dream. Prospects early in the spring for bumper crops in the bottoms were ideal and if the season had been at all similar to that of 1914 the tenant of the lowlands would have reaped a rich harvest.

Especially in the southern part of the state it seems the water has swept all before it. It is in these parts that stock of all description is being sold at whatever the farmer can get for it. Some of our Morgan county farmers might do well to pick up a car or so of this stuff at a cheap figure and help turn their luxurious fields of clover and alfalfa into profit-producing meat.

The pessimist is at large again in our midst. We hear him every day. "If these rains continue and we get no dry, hot weather to mature the corn so it should be matured, and an early killing frost comes the corn will be hurt badly." Farmers are advised by many to look over their 1914 crop for next year's seed corn. However, it is hoped that weather conditions will right themselves and the corn mature properly.

Missouri corn is said to be ripening fast, according to some reports, and in some cases, it is claimed, corn will be ready to ship by Sept. 15.

Late messages from Toronto say it is believed the British government would take the bulk of the Canadian wheat crop in the same manner as the Indian crop, and that later the Australian grain will be contracted for likewise. Australia is expected to have a surplus of 80,000,000 bushels this year, against a deficit last season and the Canadian surplus is about 90,000,000 bushels more than last year. The probability is that England and the allied countries will take the wheat from the British dependencies in preference to the United States, if for no other reason than that easier credits could be arranged.

Manitoba is being offered freely for forward shipment and the difference in price between our winter wheats and the Canadian grain, taking everything into consideration, is 9 or 10 cents a bushel. Foreigners appear to have the situation well in hand and are not buying at all freely.

On account of the Canadian wheat already being offered at big discounts under American wheat for forward shipment, exporters are taking a dismal view of the situation. A ago foreigners were buying wheat with no regard to price. Now about two months of the usually active export season has gone by with only a little business done, while Canadian wheat will be ready to ship inside of six weeks.

The fact that the extremely wet season has held up threshing operations in this country gives the American wheat producer unique competition with the Canadian product. Usually, the crop in this country is marketed weeks ahead of the northern neighbors' grain. When the matter is given thought it is easy to see why the American crop is not experiencing any great export demand just at this time.

There has been a sharp let up in the demand for feeders in the west. The recent outbreak of the dread foot and mouth disease has evidently thrown a scare into cattlemen and some country bankers who have been advancing money on this stuff. Costs of feeders have dropped accordingly. This is advantageous to the purchaser, but the cause of the decline is not a local one. There is no fear of the disease spreading, as it has been definitely ascertained that the cause of the outbreak was infected hog serum. Serum made last October prior to the date of the first outbreak. If there was uncertainty over the source of infection there would be reason for feeders' anxiety. Provided a case of the disease was found which had its origin other than from serum, the feeder demand slump would be a consistent one. A wonderful crop of rough feed is on hand this year. It should be utilized to best advantage by being converted into meats. A broad demand ahead for them is certain.

A little short fellow, in talking with a Journal reporter yesterday, boasted of his record of corn shucking, but said he does not intend trying for any records this year. After some questioning the expert corn picker said that he had been through several corn fields and found many ears that he could not reach and he had concluded that there was no hope for him to make any record this year. He admitted that the corn was as good as he had ever seen it, but it was not his fancy to climb stalks for the ears.

Mrs. William Diedrich, on the William Sutter farm, near Fletcher, threshed last week and she had one field of oats which averaged 119 bushels to the acre.

You see all kinds of foot scrapers at the farmer's back door. The writer noticed recently on a farm near this city a planter wheel at the end of the concrete walk in the barn lot, which serves the purpose well. If you haven't got a scraper go after the junk pile.

Farming is a business and the manager of one is, or should be, a business man. Every city business man has an office, because it has been proven an asset to his business. A few farmers have also tried it and proved its efficiency.

A few reasons given by G. R. Fuller, of the Colorado Agricultural college, as to why every farmer should have a business office, even if it is no more than a space partitioned off in the tool house, are as follows:

1. Bulletins adapted to every phase of the farming business are now available and unless they are filed away they are never to be found when wanted.

2. He often has business callers who feel averse to walking into the house and talking freely before the women members of the family, but who are at ease when alone with the farmer. An office fitted up cozily with a stove and chairs is a fitting place to take them, especially in cold weather.

3. The time is fast approaching when the successful farmer will know something of science, and an office or den is a good place to make his experiments on soils or other materials, or to keep his samples of fencing, soils or seed.

4. There is no farmer but keeps some accounts, more or less correct, according to the business ability of the man. He should have a place to keep these account books. Neatly printed farm stationery and a typewriter in his office will help the farmer to find a better market for his products.

The cost of fitting a farm office can depend upon the inclinations of the man. It should contain a desk, preferably roll top, on account of its many drawers and pigeon holes, an extension of the phone from the house; shelves or cabinet for filing his books, pamphlets and samples; a stove and a table for his experiments. Other equipment may be added as needed.

FIVE FACE EXECUTION FOR VARIOUS CRIMES.

Colored Men Brought to Swift Justice in Virginia—Murderers Denied Aid By Supreme Court.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 19.—For their inhuman attack on two Washington white women, John L. Rollins and George Matthews, colored, will be electrocuted at the state penitentiary tomorrow morning. The two negroes were speedily tried at Bowling Green, Va., last month. Only the doubts as to their guilt saved them from lynching. The women they attacked are Mrs. Burnley Coleman of Washington, and her daughter, Miss Eulalia Coleman. The deed was a brutal affair, and took place at the Coleman summer home near Rappahannock Academy. It was due to the rare presence of mind of Mrs. Coleman that the prisoners were brought to justice so speedily. She tore a piece from the shirt of her assailant, and this fitted the torn garment of Rollins. For two hours she and her daughter had fought against the entrance of the two negroes. Finally, barricaded in a room, they were overpowered. Rollins pleaded guilty to the deed and implicated Matthews, who is his cousin. The men got into an argument during the trial which unfolded the proof of their guilt.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 19.—Ed Maddox and Emmett Thomas, both negroes, will be hanged tomorrow morning. Maddox shot and killed a white man out in the country, while Thomas was convicted of cutting the throat of a negro. Both appealed to the Supreme Court, but the latter upheld the decision of the lower court.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Nat Weston, a negro, will be hanged tomorrow morning for a murder committed in Alameda county. His execution had been fixed for June 11, but was postponed by Governor Johnson so that he might consider the application for clemency.

CASES OF INTEREST.

Constitutionality of California Semi-Monthly Wage Law.

The applicant, in Ex parte Crane, 145 Pacific Reporter, 733, was convicted under section 2, Statutes of 1911, p. 1268, providing for the semi-monthly payment of wages, and further providing a fine for non-compliance therewith. Crane sued out a writ of habeas corpus alleging that he was deprived of his liberty in violation of article 15 of the California Constitution prohibiting imprisonment for a debt in any civil action, on mesne or final process, unless in cases of fraud. The court in sustaining the application said: "Under our system of procedure, a defendant unable to give bail is restrained of his liberty until such time as his hearing may be had. It will thus be seen that this statute is an attempt to enforce the payment of a debt by the issuance of mesne process, which in this case resulted in the temporary imprisonment of the petitioner. He may be unwilling, or perchance unable to discharge his debt, which was not contracted in fraud of his creditors. The statute to this extent is contrary to the fundamental law of this state, and the petitioner will be discharged."

Mrs. V. B. Froze and children, Lena, Lillian and Marjorie, came into the city yesterday from the north part of the county.

DAVIS' SWITCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Kiri spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Homer Winter and family.

Mrs. James Devore and Mrs. Leach were callers Friday afternoon on Mrs. Shearman Gunns, north of Woodson.

Mrs. S. W. Butler and daughter, Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Otto Grimmelt were transacting business in the city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff of Virginia and Miss Watt of Jacksonville drove over in their car to spend Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Harding near Woodson and while here attended the funeral of Charles Henry.

J. H. Devore threshed his wheat last week turning out about 37 bushels to the acre.

Midway has broken the record planning birthday surprises. The neighbors gave Mrs. Ena Story quite a surprise on last Monday, the eleventh. Mrs. Mary Sheppard was surprised Friday and Mrs. A. W. Myers. The mentioned guests took plenty of ice cream and cake which helped to make a good time for all who had the pleasure of them.

ASBURY.

The homecoming held at Asbury church last Sunday was quite a success. The morning service was in charge of Rev. Alva L. Snyder and the afternoon services by Rev. G. W. Flagg and Rev. F. M. Rule with a musical program by Misses Sarah Keesee, Helen Craig, Iva Green and Mrs. George McKean. About one hundred and twenty-five friends enjoyed a basket dinner on the church lawn. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lashmet, of Winchester, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Megginson.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hembrough, Mrs. Thursday and Miss Anna Ranson, of Franklin, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hembrough. Mrs. Ulrich Rabaiz, of Rochester, N. Y., Miss Ella Trabue, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson, Gates Strawn, of Jacksonville, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reynolds were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Reynolds.

Paul Barrows visited his friend, Dean Hembrough, the first of the week.

Mrs. Edwin Reynolds and daughter, Mildred, were Thursday guests of Misses Clara and Fannie Devore, in South Jacksonville.

Mrs. Carl York and daughters, Dorothy and Bernice, spent Friday with relatives in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Harry Clark and children, Mariana and Henry, spent Wednesday with Mr. Clarke's mother, Mrs. T. S. Hembrough.

BIDS FOR COAL.

Sealed bids for furnishing 3-inch screened lump coal for all County purposes for one year will be received at the County Clerk's office, until Saturday, September 4th, 1915, at 2 p. m.

All coal to be weighed over the City scales, except that delivered to the county farm which is to be weighed at the farm.

The successful bidder must enter into contract and give bond for faithful fulfillment of the same.

The County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

August 14th, 1915. C. A. BORNFF, County Clerk.

FORMALDEHYDE DEMONSTRATIONS.

Dr. Karl Gruenwald of the Perth Amboy Chemical Works, one of the speakers on the farm program at the Chautauque, has a tent on the grounds where he will demonstrate the use of formaldehyde on the farm and in the home—as a preventative of diseases of grains, plants and vegetables—as a disinfectant and in the fight against flies. All are invited to call at the tent and view the demonstrations.

A STATEMENT

from THE WHITE COMPANY to MOTOR CAR BUYERS

IN view of the confusing market which confronts motor car purchasers, many are looking to this company for an expression of its attitude toward the innovations in mechanical design and new price levels now being announced. We therefore take this occasion to state our beliefs and purposes, which are based on fourteen successful years of experience.

We believe the four-cylinder motor is to be the standard and ultimate type. We therefore consider it wiser to continue perfecting this type of motor, which we have already spent years in developing, than to step abruptly into a field of design that is new to the entire automobile industry, and thus impose an experiment upon our customers.

With reference to price, the White policy will be as it always has been—to build cars to the White standard rather than to a standard that would make a cheap price possible. Materials and labor cost more now than ever before—consequently, lower prices must and do indicate compromised quality.

We hold it as a first principle of our duty to purchasers of White Cars to make a product that will give maximum service with the least amount of attention and of expense for operation and maintenance; a product of such quality and approved construction that it will command high value at any time the owner may wish to dispose of it; in all, to build motor cars which the owners can truly regard as investments.

White policy will always be governed by consideration for the ultimate service-value of White Cars. We will not take part in the spectacular methods, adopted solely for sales stimulation, which prevail in the motor car market at the present time.

In short, the stability of policy which has always meant security to White owners will continue. We neither consider it good business nor do we find it necessary to repudiate the design nor to depreciate, unnaturally, the value of cars which have been purchased from us, by making frequent radical changes in design and price.

MR. REYLAND TALKS ABOUT EARLY DAYS IN MORGAN COUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Andre are enjoying a visit from Mrs. Andre's father, E. E. L. Reyland and daughter, Mrs. Dettner and husband, all of Oakland, near San Francisco. Mr. Reyland would easily pass for no more than sixty or sixty-five though he is 81 and his condition shows the results of a good constitution and upright living.

Mr. Reyland's early life was spent largely in Meredosia and he has a vast fund of interesting reminiscences some of which he kindly gave a Journal reporter. He said among other things:

"Before the war I was a member of the Quincy Blues and Ben Prentice was our captain and drill master and he understood his business. He was owner and manager of a rope walk and not a great success in business but he understood drilling most certainly and when his boys went to the war they soon showed the others what was the value of their captain's efforts. We then little thought that our humble drillmaster would one day become so famous as a general in the army. At an early date I became acquainted with many of the great men of the state. I well remember the elder Yates and how we all admired him. He was a grand man in every respect and could easily have had anything in the gift of the people but for his unfortunate weakness. He had a wonderful facility of attracting men to him and gaining their loyal devotion and confidence.

"Abraham Lincoln used to visit our place in order to get across the river at our ferry and many times I saw him there. He was a man whom everybody admired and respected as far as he was known. He had a funny story for every occasion and his fund of anecdotes had no limit. He was kind and courteous to all and not a particle vain or conceited, but approachable to every one.

"I heard the debate between him and Douglas at Quincy and then realized more than ever the greatness of the man and when later he was nominated for president I joined others with a will in the campaign. I helped raise a company of 34 Wide Awakes and being a harness maker went to work to get up the uniforms. Ben Grierson helped and my wife did much of the sewing and we had them out in fine shape. I well remember how they looked and the boys were proud of them and the torches they carried at night. I was made captain and the title stuck to me.

"I was also member of a campaign band and my introduction into the musical world was rather peculiar. I had my company of Wide Awakes at a rally at Pittsfield and it was a great day. There were five distinguished speakers: Lovejoy, Lyman Trumbull, Carl Schurz and two others whose names I don't now recall. Mr. Schurz spoke in German and the rest in English. A great throng had assembled and the delegations were rolling in. Ben Grierson had his military band there for the occasion and I was at the head of my Wide Awakes when Ben came to me in great distress informing me that the bass drummer had taken too much and was totally unfit to pound the big drum in the wagon containing the band. We both tried to imagine some one who could take the place but were unable to do so and finally Ben told me I would have to do it. I told him I had never done anything of the kind but he said I should take hold and pound whenever I thought it right and as I had a pretty good idea of time I made the attempt.

"The fifer struck up Fisher's Hornpipe and through the town we went to the gay strains of that popular piece. The boys and girls of the place took it up and at once everybody was in good humor. Soon after the procession started it began to rain but we kept bravely on and by the time we reached the stand the rain had ceased and the day was a big success.

"I demonstrated that I could play the bass drum and my calling was duly discovered and all through the campaign of 1860 we played going from town to town all over the district wherever there was an important rally. The band was composed of Nathan Sutton of Cass or Menard county, Ben Grierson, post-born; Samuel Thompson of Meredosia and Denner of Beardstown, snare drums, and I bass. We made the welkin ring for Abraham Lincoln and felt we had no small share in his campaign.

"At one time there was a big Lincoln rally at Springfield and I took my Wide Awakes to it. They had a big pile of walnut rails supposed to have been split by Lincoln and we took a part of them and carried them in the procession and I well remember I had a good sized one and when the day was ended my boys and I cut it up for souvenirs and I have my piece yet and value it highly.

"At one time there was a big Lincoln rally and we were on hand and as the carriage containing Lincoln approached the stand we took possession, unhitched the horses and pulled it by hand to its destination. In those days strict order was hardly secured as at present and a great many piled on the platform until it began to give way on one side, slowly settling down at an uncomfortable angle. Of course the spectators all hastened to get down but Mr. Lincoln didn't lose his balance or composure or stop speaking but managed to keep his place right along on the tilting platform. I don't think many men of the present day could do such a thing as that but Mr. Lincoln was able for almost any emergency.

"In the early part of the war when a body of recently enlisted men was at Cairo and were well known to us, R. S. Thompson, Squire Lusk, Isaac Rawlings, Ben Grierson and I went down to visit them and took along our musical instruments and played for them. We were grandly received and lionized sufficiently to turn our heads. The boys who had belonged to the Quincy Blues and had been drilled by Ben Prentice were far ahead of the others when it came to military drill.

"I shall never forget one day seeing a quiet man ride into Meredosia on horseback and inquire about the facilities for crossing the river. He said he was in command of a regiment of soldiers who had marched from Springfield to Naples and could get no farther for the opposite side of the river was overflowed. He said his name was Grant but he was a stranger to us. He talked some time with Ben Grierson, Squire Wallihan and myself and we found him pleasant but quiet and detached. A rather swaggering individual who chewed lots of tobacco and let it run down his lips said to the visitor: 'Say, Mister; your horse has a pretty big head.'

"And a good sized jaw, too," was the quiet response. We told him the best thing he could do would be to bring his regiment to Meredosia and cross on our ferry there, which he did. As the boys were assembled at the river Sam Thompson went to call on them and being an experienced drummer, tried some of their instruments and with his vigorous playing broke one or two sticks and remarked that they would have to get stouter timber if he was to play on their drums. The regiment crossed on the ferry at Meredosia and then the commander was obliged to forego his intention to have them march all the way down south so they took the train on the other side and proceeded on their way.

"I have been much interested in Mr. Moore's excellent historical articles and they are generally accurate as far as I know but he is in error if he says that Grant's regiment crossed the Illinois river at Naples. After Ben Grierson began to be famous he was hurt, kicked by a mule, we used to say, and came home to recuperate. We heard of it and determined he should be suitably received and getting together all of his old military band we could muster we met him at some distance and escorted him in state to Straw's Hall where a public reception was given him. It was a big day and we felt our importance most pardonably for we had been the comrades of the cavalry here in political campaigns and he received us cordially and talked over old times most freely.

LABOR MOVEMENT DISCUSSED BY WALKER

PRESIDENT OF FEDERATION
HEARD AT CHAUTAUQUA.

Purpose of Co-Operation Movement Is to Get Best Value for Work Performed and to Better Conditions for Working Class—Believes Socialism Must Grow.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, made a address at the Chautauqua Saturday afternoon. He was introduced by Chairman Brandcroft as a man who had long been identified with labor interests and whose course had been such as to inspire the confidence of both laboring men and employers. On all sides Mr. Walker is acknowledged to be fair-minded, although having pronounced views as to the rights of laboring men. Mr. Walker's general theme was "The Labor Movement." His home is in Danville and for two years he has been the president of the Illinois Federation of Labor. For more than twelve years he has been holding offices in organized labor and for a considerable period was president of the state organization of miners. He is a miner and that he understands that work thoroughly is indicated by the fact that his employment as a mine worker began when he was a lad of ten years. The State Federation of Labor has a list strength of 175,000 members and an affiliated strength of half a million. By affiliation through legislative committees the organization has still further numbers and includes about 750,000.

Trade Union Movement.

Mr. Walker is not making a series of Chautauqua addresses and seldom speaks in public except before labor bodies. He has, however, made several addresses the past week, one of them at Sandoval, where during the fair a day was devoted to labor, and Friday night he appeared before the penal institution employees at Joliet. In his address yesterday afternoon Mr. Walker first considered the necessity of the trade union movement for the securing of adequate wages. He said that the purpose of the union is to bring to pass reduced hours for laborers and to secure for them the last penny to which they are entitled. Trade unionism seeks to so regulate employment so that each worker will have something to do and still that the needs of the people will be met. The union seeks to make working conditions healthful and safe and to establish the relations between employer and workers which should exist.

Mr. Walker declared that the purpose of the co-operative movement is to get for the workers the last value of wages earned. It seeks to improve the quality of goods and to increase the use of union made goods the country over. The movement has for one purpose that eventually all workers, retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers, shall get the same wages under like conditions. The third department of work of the state federation is the political organization which endeavors to see that good law makers are elected, that laws beneficial to labor are enacted, and that later on these laws are enforced. The legislative or political work is in charge of officers of the federation, and when the legislature is in session they spend much time at Springfield keeping in touch with proposed legislation and advocating measures which they believe will be helpful. In this work the federation unites with the committees working in behalf of various organized labor bodies.

Dual Standard.

In the course of his address Mr. Walker discussed the dual standard, as he termed it, of working conditions. He said that the average man concedes that the laborer should be expected to work a fair number of hours for at least five or six days a week and that he is entitled to a wage which will provide for his family with moderate comforts and will possibly admit his saving a few dollars for declining years. If the laborer declines to work a less number of days he is considered something of a menace to society and if he will not work at all, steps are taken to banish him.

The same standard, the speaker said, did not apply to the business man. He quoted President Brown of the Illinois Central as having made a statement once before the interstate commerce commission that there are ten men in business where one is really required. He said that Mr. Brown used this as an argument why his railroad should be allowed to increase its rates. The argument by the speaker was that the public must pay additional expense occasioned by the fact that so many more men are in business than the need requires. He said that in order to cover this expense it was necessary for the larger number of business men with their larger expenses to charge the consumer a larger profit. He declared that the business man who worked little and acquired much was considered a great success and given the encomiums of society, while the laborer who worked little soon falls into disrepute. He said that in the employment of a laborer often the wage received was not based upon the value of the service rendered but the effort of the employer was to secure the labor at the least expenditure without reference to the real value of the service.

Socialism Must Grow.

It is impossible at this time to go into an extended account of Mr. Walker's address, but he opened up a line of thought which was new to many of

STILL SEARCHING FOR HAROLD BOYD'S BODY

RIVER REFUSES TO GIVE UP REMAINS OF YOUNG MAN.

Letter From Wilbur Rogers Says That He Thinks Extreme Fright Caused Boyd's Heart to Stop Beating After Struggling With Klean Who Was Bringing Him to Shore.

A letter from Wilbur Rogers to his father, W. B. Rogers, Saturday brought further details of the drowning of Harold Boyd, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Boyd, of this city, at Gallatin, Mo. A diligent search has been made for the body, which has not been found, but the searchers have not given up hope. The letter reads as follows:

Gallatin, Mo., Aug. 20, 1915.
"Dear Father—I just received your letter a few moments ago, and if it had not been for it, I would never have written this one. Yesterday a baby was born into the world, Leo Johnson's son, and a boy taken out of it.

"As you have most probably heard, Harold Boyd was drowned in the Grand river about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Harold and I both were very anxious to learn to swim. Yesterday morning Harold asked me to go with him but I told him that I thought it was a little too cold. Afternoon it warmed up quite a little, but when again he asked me, after the afternoon concert, and said Fritz Klean, a fine swimmer was going along, I consented to go with them.

"The water was quite a bit higher than when I saw it last, but knowing the lay of the land well, we went not thinking of any danger. We were in the water all together about half an hour, and Fritz was out drying himself, and I was just ready to come out myself. Harold would, I think, have come out as soon as I did.

"The current was strong and we had stayed close to the bank. He and I had been mud crawling around and splashing water on one another. I think Harold was either crawling along this way, or turning around, aiming to come out, when the current took his feet from under him. Immediately he called for Fritz and he started after him.

"The current carried Harold directly away but Fritz finally caught up with him. It seems as though he grabbed one of Fritz's arms and Fritz was bringing him in toward the bank, when Harold let loose and grabbed Fritz with both hands. Fritz jerked loose and called to me to go fetch a doctor. I put on my trousers and started for a power house about three-quarters of a mile away. When I got back about fifteen minutes later Fritz was pacing the shore.

"He said that after he jerked loose Harold sank immediately out of sight never to appear again. I do not think Harold drowned in the sense of the word but rather was scared so badly that his heart stopped beating. The top of his head was out of water until he sank for the first and last time. There is only one satisfaction, and that is that he was perfectly ready for his departure. I know that he was, as Mr. Jeffries put it, 'the flower of our flock.'

"As yet his body has not been found, but all is being done that could possibly be done. We have been using grab hooks and men have been diving, but today the water of the under current is just like ice water. I was not permitted to go to the river today but I was talking to a man who has been, and who will take an active part in the search. He said that he was positive that they had struck the body twice; the first time about 20 feet from the place where he went down; the second time a great deal farther down.

"Woven wire has been stretched across the channel farther down stream, and everyone thinks we shall have better luck tomorrow. My greatest regret is, that I could not do more than I did, for the best boy friend I have ever known.

"I spoke in a letter of the people being cold toward us, but you could not find better workers or more sympathetic people anywhere. They have shown more interest, than any one could have imagined.

"Mr. Boyd arrived this evening, Percy and I met him and took him to the Methodist pastor's house, where he was received very warmly. 'Love to all, Wilbur.'

CARRYALL SERVICE.

Cherry's Livery has established a carryall service from the street car terminal to the Chautauqua grounds. Prompt service assured.

his auditors in the consideration of the relations between employer and employee; in the relation between labor and capital, the producer and the consumer. Mr. Walker is an avowed socialist and believes that labor will not receive its full compensation until that time when society so changes that much property now owned privately is managed for the common good, and until the time when rights now vested in individuals are transferred to society as a whole. While he is an avowed socialist, he believes that these conditions must come through a period of growth and development, after the people have passed through a period of education. He realizes that some of the men who hold the most radical views on this question, while sincere, have done the most to retard the growth of socialistic sentiment because of their extreme and radical views and because of their lack of perception of the fact that these things cannot come in a short period of time.

Miss Georgia and Louise Hamilton were in Beardsstovn and attended the fish fry Saturday.

William Shibe has returned to Jacksonville after visiting with relatives here.

On account of the high water at Alton the C. B. & Q. passenger train No. 49, due here at 11:07 p.m. did not arrive until 4 p.m. The rain which fell in Scott county set a new water mark. In the twenty-one hours of continuous rain there fell 4.7 inches.

Mrs. Charles Hierman has arrived home after five weeks' visit in Okaville, Ill.

Mrs. Grant Mader, who has been ill for the past week, is improving.

WE HAVE SECURED as a trimmer for the Fall Season MISS JOHNSON, who is one of the best trimmers from the well known establishment of GAGE BROS. & CO. Miss Johnson will be here Monday, Aug. 23rd, and everyone wishing something new and different in New Fall Millinery is invited to call and meet her. H. J. & L. M. SMITH.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.
George Mellor, of Murrayville, was arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff George Stice, on the charge of a attempted assault. The warrant was sworn out by John Tendick, father of Dorothy Tendick.

Mellor was brought to this city and taken before Justice Dye and in default of bond in the sum of $1,000 was sent to jail. Mellor is a constable in Murrayville and has a wife and four children, the youngest being 18 years of age.

CARL E. ROBINSON WILL PRACTICE LAW IN CITY

Carl E. Robinson, who recently graduated from the law department of the Chicago university, has decided to locate in Jacksonville. For sometime he has been deciding where he would begin his profession.

Mr. Robinson has had a splendid record as a student. He was valedictorian of the class of 1904 of the Petersburg high school. He was also valedictorian of the class of 1909 of Illinois college, receiving the degree of A. B. While here he was a member of the Phi Alpha debating team for two years and for the same length of time a member of the intercollegiate team, winning all his debates. In 1910 he was principal of Whipple academy. In the fall of 1912 he entered the law school of the University of Chicago and was graduated with the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence and received the "Cum Laude" recognition. He was president of the Chicago class for one year, judge of the moot court, president for one year of the Whittier law club.

Mr. Robinson is an indefatigable worker and has practically made his own way through all his educational courses. His work as field agent for Illinois college was unusually excellent. He is a young man of unusual ability and attainments and his many friends in Jacksonville will wish him success in his chosen profession. Mr. Robinson is a member of the Baptist church and has always been a staunch republican. He will have his office in room 704 of the Ayres bank building.

BELONG TO SAME FAMILY.
James H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, who made the address at the chautauqua Saturday afternoon, was a guest while in the city of his relative, J. H. Danskin. It was only during a recent meeting that the discovery was made that they are members of the same family. Mr. Walker, whose grandmother's name was Danskin, made some inquiries concerning the Jacksonville man's family history and thus they traced their relationship. Mr. Walker himself was born in Scotland and came to this country as a child with his parents. His speech now gives some trace of his Scotch ancestry and the tenacity and earnestness which have marked his career in the labor movement have also given evidence of his Scotch blood.

FRANK BOURN NEARLY LOSES HIS LIFE IN INDIAN CREEK

Rural Mail Carrier on Route No. 8 Has Narrow Escape When His Horse Drowns While crossing Swollen Stream.

Frank Bourn, rural mail carrier on Route No. 8, had a narrow escape from death Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when he attempted to cross Indian creek. His horse was swept off the levy by the strong current and as the animal and buggy went over Bourn grabbed a telephone wire that had fallen within reaching distance because of the storm. He managed to extricate himself from his perilous position. When he did so he looked about for his horse and rig, but both were submerged in the water. He waited some time to see if he could catch a glimpse of them, but they never appeared.

Mr. Bourn showed his skill and courage when he secured a horse from a neighbor and taking his mail sack on his shoulder again attempted to ford the creek, doing so in safety and thus finished his route. He lost some of his mail in the accident, but is congratulating himself that he had such a narrow escape. He deeply regrets to lose his faithful horse.

The water above the levy was three feet deep Saturday and was within a foot and a half of the bottom of the bridge. Old timers of that community stated yesterday that they had never seen the water so high. This is the thirteenth time since June that the water has been above the levy.

give enduring satisfaction because they are so carefully made. Again and again the sheet of aluminum is passed through enormous rolling mills and pounded by huge stamping machines. Any piece that cracks or breaks under the tremendous strain is rejected—so that when the utensil is finally made the metal in it is dense, hard and rigid—it will stand the hardest kind of wear. This special offer is made so that you can see for yourself—if you do not already know—the difference between "Wear-Ever" and flimsy aluminum ware.
